Sir George Williams University

stature . . .

Early in the second term of this year the University was shaken by an immeasurable loss. Professor Philip Pugsley, senior professor in the Commerce division, who began his long association with Sir George as an undergraduate, died following a prolonged illness. A man who exemplified well the dynamic spirit of growth and development in this institution, his death deeply affected us all.

As a lifelong member of the Montreal community, Professor Pugsley was a partner in one of the city's leading accountancy firms and was the only Canadian ever to hold the presidency in the International Junior Chamber of Commerce. Upon his retirement from that position he directed the establishment of the International Junior Chamber of Commerce Senatorial Movement, the senior advisory body to the world-wide organization.

He became the supervisor of the Commerce division at Sir George Williams University in 1946, and with matchless dedication, almost single-handedly brought our Commerce and Accountancy departments to a position of stature second to none in this country. At the same time he was a valued and integral part of the community life at the University, as a member of the Faculty Council and as an advisor and guide to any of us who sought his assistance.

In a year accented by the continued expansion of our University, his passing is particularly felt. But it serves as a reminder too, that spirit and strength such as his, lie at the very foundation of our growth.

And we will not forget. . .

Our Concrete Campus

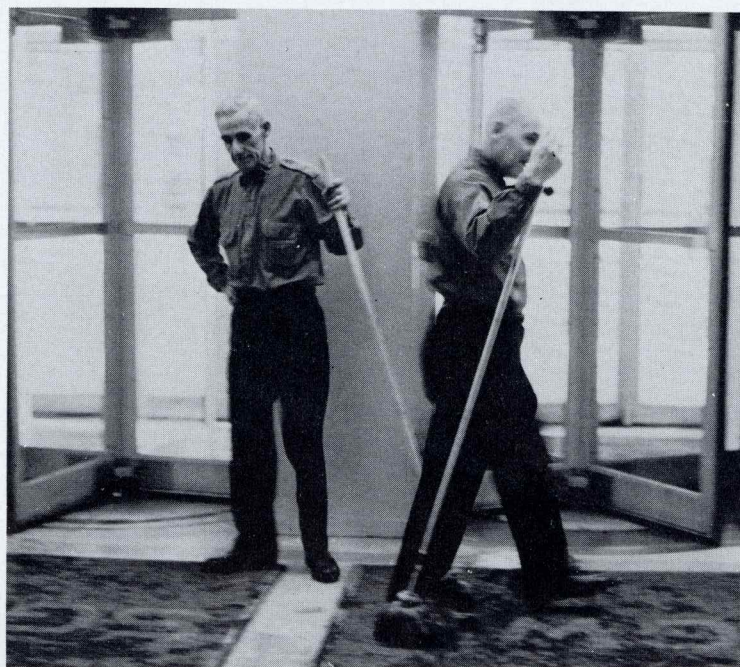

It may be six or seven or eight A.M. when the first Georgian opens his eyes and beholds another day of studies before him. By nine o'clock buses and car loads of book-carriers have disembarked in a bustling downtown world and countless leaden shoes are pounding the Drummond St. beat. Now is the time when thoughts turn speculatively to the hours spent lined along hard pavements, waiting for the little card that means entrance. Was it this facade of grey and glass that we wanted to penetrate?

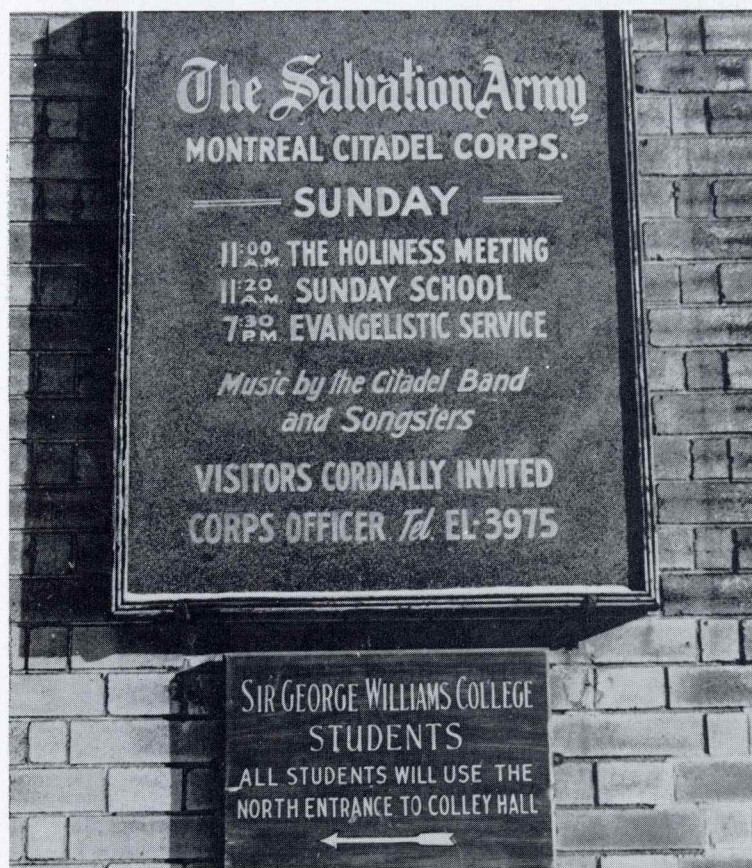

Inside! Here are the huge, anonymous corridors whose notices proclaim meetings called and lectures cancelled, whose tables boast hawkers of publication or election, whose guardians in granite watch and tend. Classes may call the student to an auditorium packed and restless; to a streamlined, fully-equipped classroom or laboratory upstairs; to the tiered benches of early Y.M.C.A. lecture rooms; to the diversified atmospheres of modern Annex or pillared Salvation Army Citadel where, under the aegis of "Blood and Fire", the assembled company is taught.

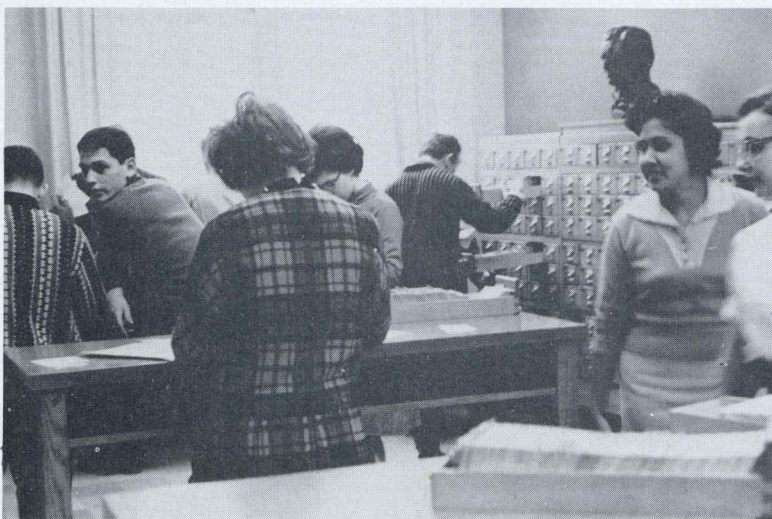

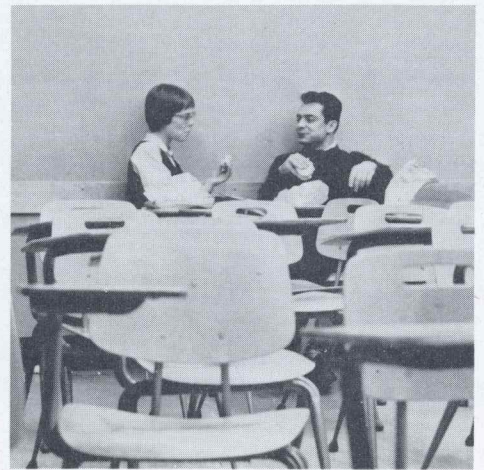

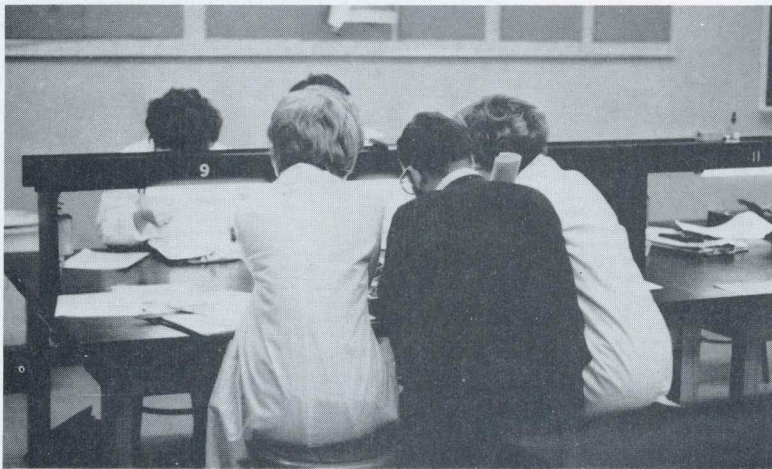

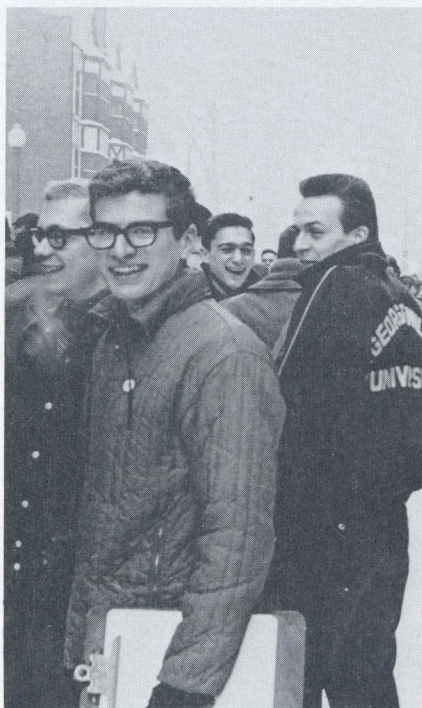

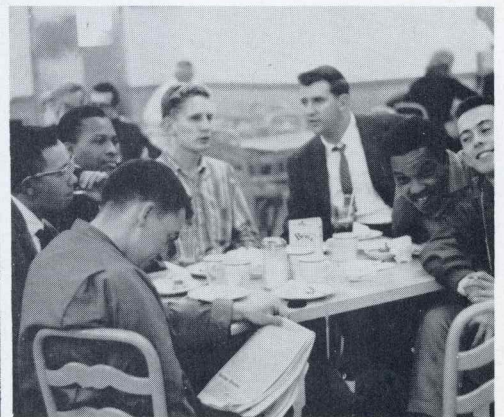

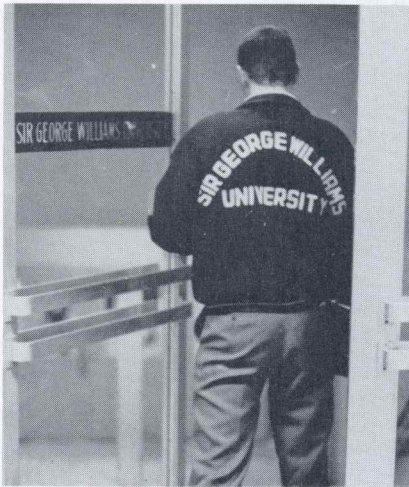

♦ ♦ ♦ and then inside

Lunch hour having arrived or the day's lectures being over, a scurrying Georgian traffic comes to life throughout the college basement and over Stanley Street. Now begins a concerted siege of coffee shops, from the quaint, continental, "hidden downstairs" type to the "greasy spoon" variety. Now, too, those male leaders of undergraduate life who can tear themselves from plotting and planning repair with a will to the Stanley Tavern, beloved of many a class of Georgians, the thinking man's retreat. For some, the Y. cafeteria offers a place to talk and eat economically, and in the common room, while sandwiches are devoured, the piano may warm to a set of accomplished fingers. Still, there remains a serious note, especially around January and April; a steady line ascends to the library where, with bent head and many a sigh, Stanley Street goes down before the road to knowledge.

From The Chancellor

I do appreciate the kindness of the Editor of the Garnet in providing me with this opportunity to extend greetings to all Georgians. It has been a great pleasure, over many years, to be actively related to Sir George Williams University and I have particularly enjoyed the privilege of meeting many of those who have been active in the student life of the Institution.

The past year has been a very active one for all of us. We have been able to release the plans for a fine new building on Burnside Street which will enable us to extend educational opportunities to a great many more students in both Day and Evening Divisions. Other steps have been taken to relieve the pressure of increasing enrollment, such as the acquisition of rented facilities at 2015 Drummond Street. The Board of Governors has noted, with pride, the scholarly achievements of many students and the respect accorded those of our graduates who have gone on to gain distinction in the graduate schools of Canada and other countries.

I would add a special greeting to those who will be members of the 1963 graduating class. I hope that you have found satisfaction in your various programmes of academic study and that you will now take your places in society as responsible and able citizens. We look to the graduates of Sir George to establish the reputation of their Alma Mater through their worthy endeavours. It is to be hoped that you will continue to show warm interest and offer strong support to your University in the years to come.

To all Georgians, I send my best wishes and warm regards.

Herbert R. ...

From The Principal

It is a privilege to have this opportunity, through the kind invitation of the Garnet, to address a few remarks to those who have been part of Sir George during the 1962-'63 academic year. May I first say how delighted all of us are that our beloved Principal Emeritus, Dr. Henry F. Hall, is continuing in his magnificent manner to serve Sir George as he has done so well for many years. I make this reference because during this first year in office I have gained even more awareness of the great debt we all owe to Dr. Hall and other devoted workers for the growth and development of Sir George.

The year has been marked by the public announcement of the plans for expansion that have been worked on for several years. While this announcement has been received with enthusiasm it must not be forgotten that other developments of even more far-reaching effect have been taking place. We have added a considerable number of highly qualified scholars to our academic faculties, honour degree programmes have been introduced, and thorough study is being given to the strengthening of our present programme and extending it into advanced fields of study.

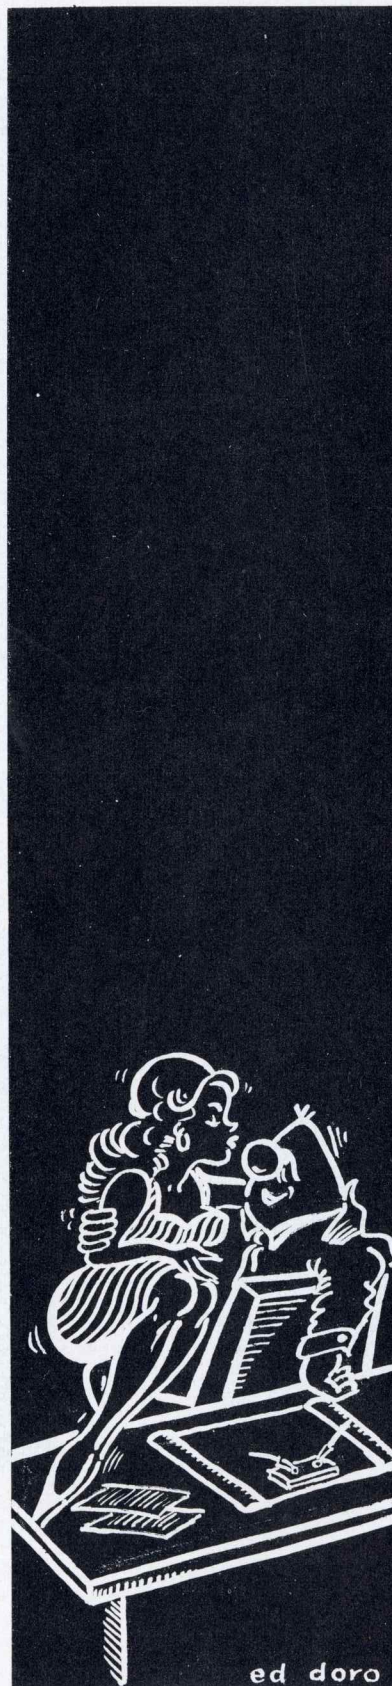

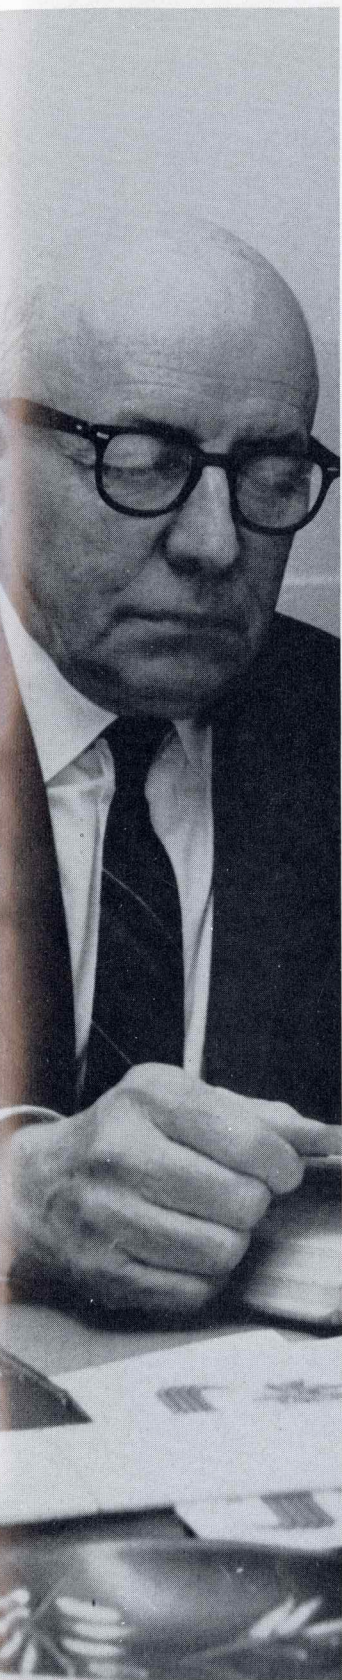

May I extend a very special message of congratulations to the Graduating Classes of 1963. We will watch, with great interest, your future progress and our hopes and wishes will be centered on your well-being. We will welcome opportunities to hear of your activity and achievements and we hope that you will retain a warm regard for Sir George and its contribution to your lives.

To all Georgians I offer sincere best wishes for health, happiness and a useful life of service and satisfaction.

Pres!!!

Many of the S.U.S. achievements, this year, resulted from the persistent efforts of president Don McPhie. Most important to many students was the opening of the Stanley Street "exit." Many other significant achievements were effected, perhaps unnoticed by the average student. Chief among these were the creation of a Research Board, extra space for club activities, and bringing the Constitution up to date to keep pace with an expanding Sir George.

Thanks Don, for a fine job, well done.

Treffe Lacombe and Bob Vaison were also key members in this year's council. Through Treffe's efforts, Treasure Van was the biggest success yet and Sir George obtained membership in Canadian University Service Overseas.

The financing of S.U.S. & E.S.A. saw a big step forward this year in the formation of the Joint Finance Committee. This year also saw the formation of a Treasury Board and a Finance Committee.

About that ad in "Midnight"

. . . and, whereas . . .

Forge (Foundation, Organization, Regulation, Generalization, Expansion) ahead! This was the motto of this year's Council and gives an indication of its accomplishments. Codification of material which had accumulated from the past and formalization of functioning bodies was emphasized to provide stability and a basis for continuation. With this in mind the Joint Finance Committee, the Clubs Commission and Clubs Treasury Board were formalized. Various areas were reorganized, particularly that of finances. The financial and administrative system for the society as a whole was revised, which included the forming of a Treasury Board and Finance Committee and the implementation of auditors. The Personnel Selection Board, for example, was established to rid external affairs of "patronage." A vast number of projects were brought to completion--revised agreements and policies, day off for Winter Carnival, report to students, Constitution--which do not pertain to a specific category. Expansion was an overall tendency. It included treading new ground such as the Garnet and Gold Review, provincial grants to students, establishment of a Public Relations Committee and membership in Canadian University Service Overseas, physical expansion, namely the addition of working areas in the Annex Building, and enlarged programming referring to the Winter Carnival and the Seminar. They forged ahead.

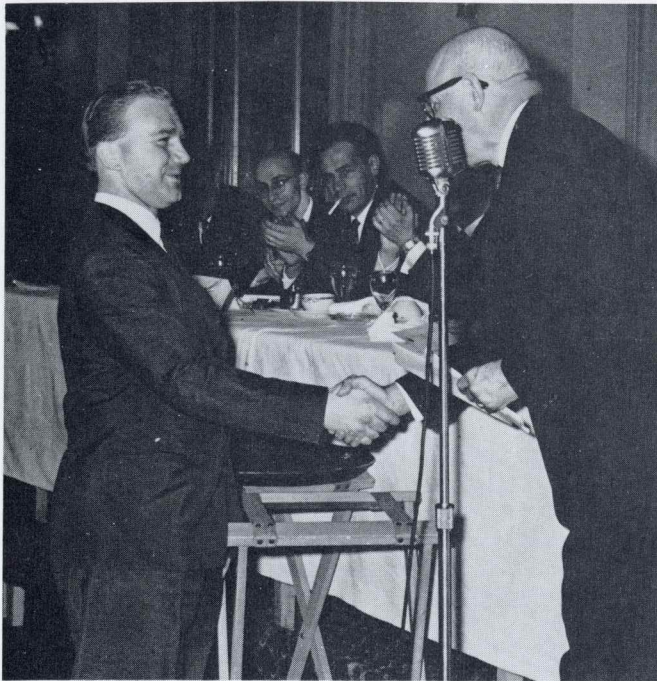

Then it's unanimous?

Jim Kenward, Treasurer of the E.S.A. was presented with a well deserved Special Achievement Award.

Gus Borovilos B.A., President of the E.S.A. saw a progressive year with new clubs formed and also greater cooperation with the S.U.S. as was shown by the Joint Finance Commission.

Mike Rubin, Partial Students Rep. was in charge of publicity and served as chairman of the Special Service Committee. For carrying out these duties in an efficient manner, Mike was awarded The Presidential Commendation.

Membership in the Garnet Key Society, Sir George's 'Diplomatic Corps,' is the highest honour that can be bestowed upon an undergraduate.

The purpose of the Society is to represent and assist our university and affiliated schools at all major events. The Society's functions include the orientation of students to university life, welcoming visiting dignitaries, conducting guided tours, and ushering at convocations, balls, seminars, and other student events.

The election of members is based upon character, contributions to extra-curricular life, and scholastic standing. Potential members are nominated and selected annually by their fellow students and officers of the administration.

During this academic year Commerce Faculty students visited the Asbestos Plant and heard many guest speakers. The main guest speaker was Mr. John Rennie, Controller of Dominion Tar and Chemical and member of the Financial Executive Institute, who spoke on "Controllorship."

Activities and speakers such as these enable the students to have a more personal contact with businesses and professional men in the field of commerce.

This year the D.D.W.A. presented a well-balanced programme of social and educational events. On the social side, the ladies provided several entertaining Tea Dances; Freshmen and Closing Luncheons; a hilarious and highly successful Sadie Hawkins Week including such events as a mock basketball game (women vs. pros), a Daisy Mae contest, and a party at the "B".

In a more sober light, the D.D.W.A. invited several speakers who addressed co-eds on such fields as social welfare, travel and public relations: careers open to students on graduation. "Parents Night" gave the parents a chance to observe the environment which is making or marring their progeny, and was a great success. And all dug into their pockets to provide Christmas Baskets for needy families at Christmas time. So all in all, as Maggie Muggins would say, they had quite a year.

E.W.A.

Pres. Arlene tries out a new style.

Under the expert guidance of Arlene Angus, the E.W.A. in '62-'63 presented a programme of such varied projects and entertainment that the male world was stunned (or should have been). Appealing to the basic instincts of all females, the association sponsored both a highly-entertaining fashion show and a charm course which initiated numerous participants into the world of higher make-up. Dancing lessons, too, were provided and proved a popular feature.

On a more general scale, these busy girls arranged a number of successful tea dances, and brought to Sir George an excellent movie, "The Brothers Karamazov". At Christmas they staged the annual Children's Party for progeny of the faculty and students, and for needy children.

The Administration looks ahead

These are great years for Sir George. In 1956, our present building was opened with provisions to meet the Georgian needs for the following twenty-five years. This estimate has already been falsified. However our Board of Directors are capable and willing to meet the demands of the situation. What is now a parking lot will in three short years be the location of a $15,000,000.00 extension to Sir George.

Georgians themselves have not sat idly by. Certainly there is room for improvements even in the present building. This year the President of the S.U.S. opened the Stanley Street entrance to the University making it possible for the male students to make classes on time after having lunch in "the Stanley Street Common Room".

These are advances which we have already or are about to realize. But this is not enough. There has been much talk this year about a football team for Sir George. Although this may seem an almost impossibility, perhaps our predecessors may realize this, another Sir George dream come true.

The Clubs Commission functions as a coordinating body providing facilities for the various Clubs and also as an advisory body for programming and publicity. The Commission also plays the role of intermediary between the S.U.S., E.S.A., and the Clubs.

Another first this year was the transfer of S.L.O.C. to the Laurentians for a week-end to orientate the student leaders in the functions of student government.

This year saw the Sociology Club re-established and also boasted new Clubs such as the Hellenic Club, the Ukranian Club, and the Flying Club.

The Research Board was established in November to investigate those areas of concern felt by the S.U.S. to warrant complete study but which were too extensive to allow research by the executive itself. To begin its work, the Board selected four areas that seemed to require more immediate action-insurance, financial aid, residences, and student apathy. Membership in the Research Board is open to any member of the Society who displays willingness to contribute his talent and extra time to an organization that promises to bring greater glory and fame to Sir George as the years progress.

Publications Commission

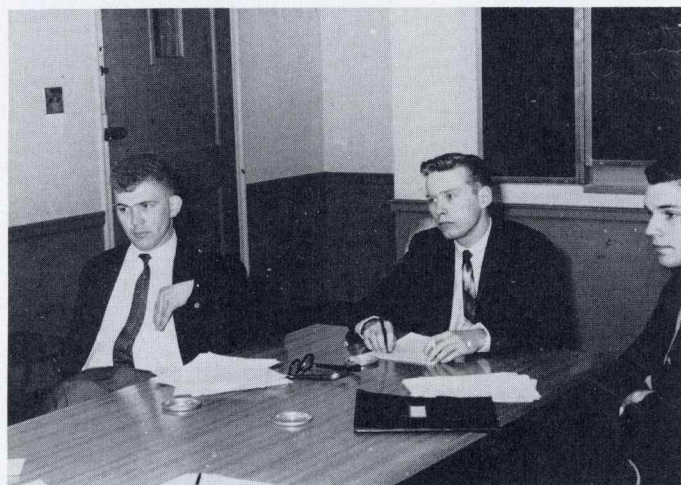

Commissioner Carl Taylor

While publications like the Georgian, Night Owl, Prism, and even the Garnet see to the information and artistic requirements of an adoring public, the Publications Commission, like a capable mother, feeds them, advises them, stops their fights, and gives them pocket money. This year's Commission, under the leadership of Carl Taylor, sharpened up procedures and whittled down expenses to the general satisfaction of its charges. They won cudos for excellent financial management with the efforts of treasurer Pierre Lesperance and advertising manager, Don Twiner. Photography, under Keith Clark, also showed a notable improvement.

The Garnet And Georgian this year appreciated the efforts of a much improved Photography Department. Under the capable direction of Keith and his two side-kicks, Derek and Meeme, this department turned out quality photographs. The members of this department were readily available for advice on photo enlargements.

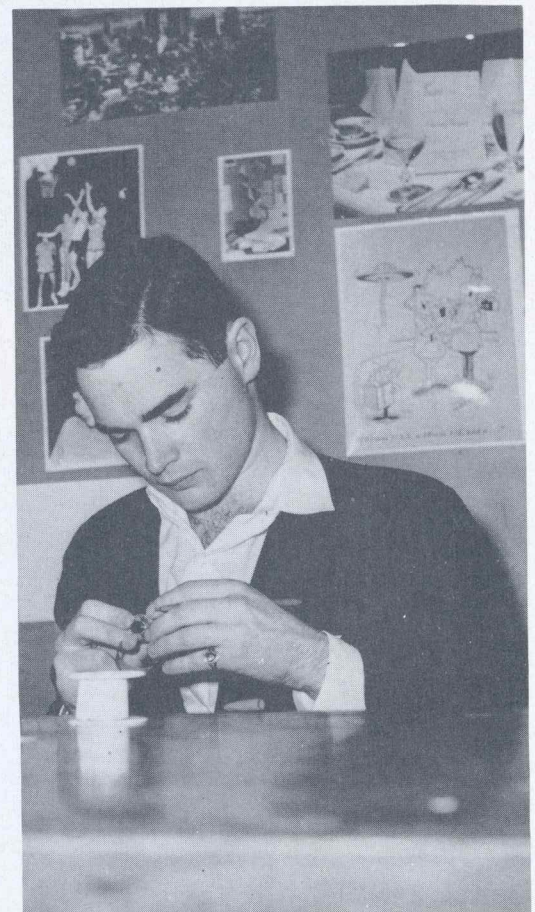

Derek was assigned as special Garnet advisor, and Meeme was assigned as special Georgian advisor. This made for a much better liaison between these two major publications by preventing duplication of photo coverage.

If this year is any indication, I am sure that we will see continued cooperation between these three bodies of the Publications Commission.

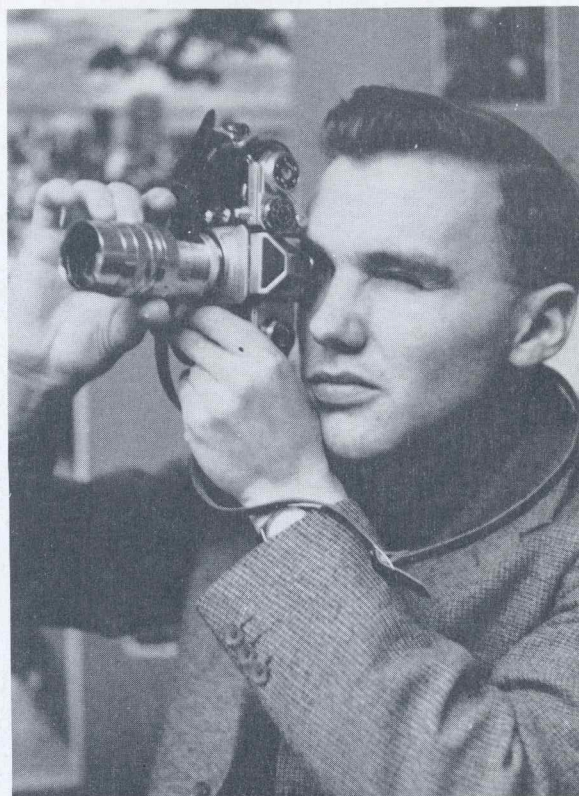

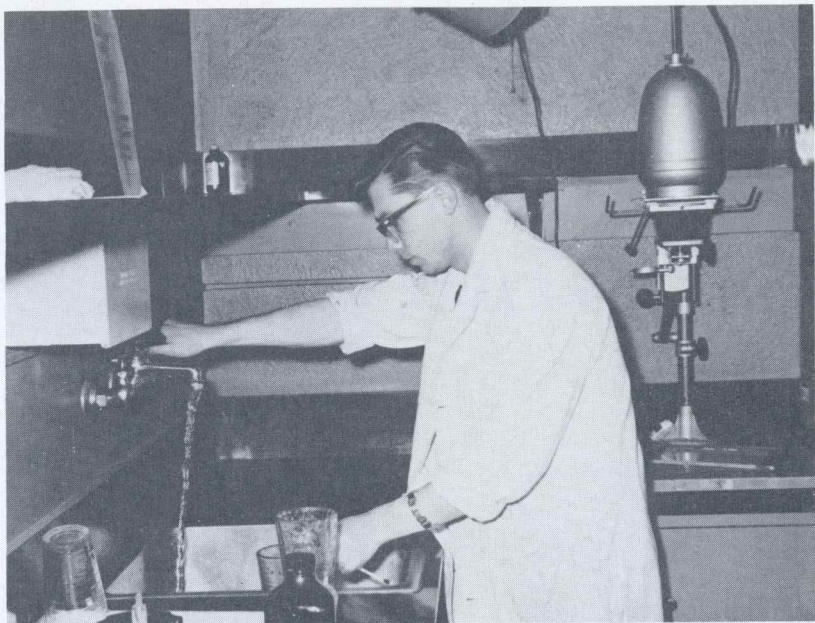

Other members of this staff were Martin Lax, Richard Simon, Barry Barnes, Dennis Hoffert, Lionel Geffen, and Dan Stechysin.

Freshman Week

Write down the first thing that comes to your mind. "I love my mother, but..." After hours and hours of tests and then more hours of speeches, the largest number of Freshmen yet seen at Sir George, stumbled curiously into the building on Monday of this year's Freshman Week, wondering what to expect.

Whatever they expected, under the superior leadership of Ena Palnick, assisted by a staunch crew, Freshmen sailed through a busy agenda of luncheons, teas, and dances; all part of life on the "Concrete Campus."

The concept of this week was to introduce new students to the University and to each other. To this end, shy (??), naive young ladies and gentlemen were herded in small flocks by the Garnet Key Society to attend the various orientations.

Later these same flocks heard the debate "To bed or not to bed"; watched the variety show; and attended the causal dance, where upperclassmen make their annual survey. Highlighting the week was the Freshman Ball held at the "Ritz Carlton Hotel."

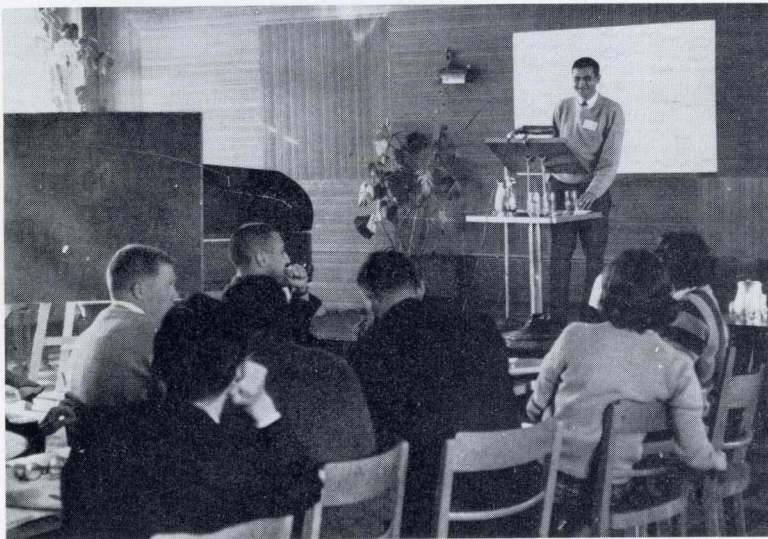

S. L. O. C. Conference

The Student Leader Orientation Conference was moved from the corridors of the Concrete Campus to the ski slopes of the Laurentians. All delegates registered at La Marquise Hotel and for two days, the resort area went the "Georgian Way."

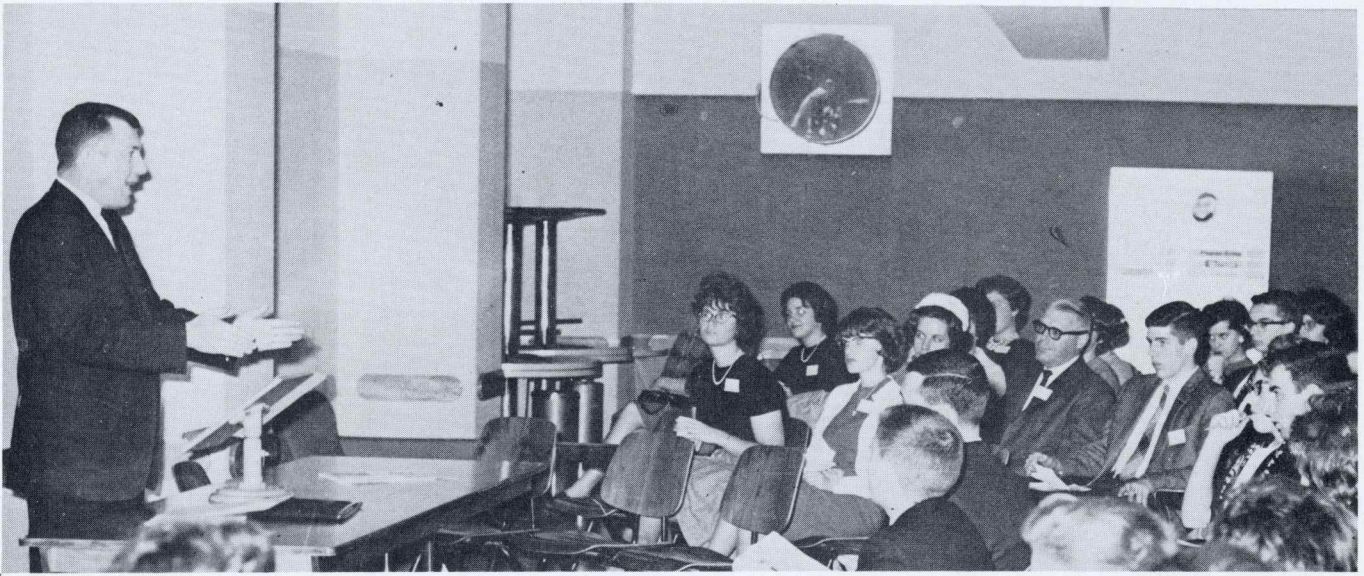

The purpose of S.L.O.C. is to orientate students in the ways of student leadership and to give them an opportunity to see and be exposed to the various organs of the S.U.S. and of the university.

Needless to say, Terry Kelaher, aided by Keith Clark, worked diligently to make the conference a success.

Congratulations for a job well done.

Ottawa-St. Lawrence Yearbook Conference

Through the joint co-operation of Sir George, McGill and Loyola, the second Yearbook Conference was held for two days in the fall at Sir George. The guest speaker, Mr. W. Allnutt, presented several informative lectures dealing with yearbook publishing methods.

Representatives to the conference were from Queen's, Waterloo, U. of Toronto and C.M.R. as well as from the various universities, colleges, nursing schools and high schools in Montreal.

Due to the great success of this conference, the delegates unanimously supported the proposal to continue this on an annual basis.

After months of frenzied preparation by chairman Richard Leslie and able staff, the 4th Annual Seminar on International Affairs opened this year to discuss the timely topic, Nationalism...-and After. Over 100 delegates attending from forty Universities such as the London School of Economics and Georgetown U.S. Naval Academy met in study groups, where each delegation presented a paper in relation to the Conference's theme. Lectures, for the most part open to the general public, were delivered by such speakers as the Indian High Commissioner to Canada, Chandra Jha; Prof. F. L. Schuman, Prof. B. Higgins of the University of Texas; Prof. A. F. K. Organski of Brooklyn College; and Prof. Q. Wright of Columbia University. From future U.N. problems to "internationalism and supernationalism" they probed the subject for an audience that was thus made newly aware of 20th century world crises.

Also included in the five-day seminar was a plenary session with an address on Russian nationalism by Dr. Jerome Davis, and a panel discussion on "The Nature of Economic Unions and Communities," with Vice-Principal O'Brien as moderator. Mr. D. Steinberg, chief economist for the Committee of National Trade Policy; Mr. T. English of Carleton University; and Prof. Armstrong of McGill.

Christmas Ball

This year the annual Christmas Ball was a joint effort of the S.U.S. & E.S.A. The Windsor Hotel provided the facilities for this gala event which was attended by the faculty as well as the student body. Of course, the highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Evening Student Queen, Heather Lauer. After the usual dancing, sipping, and general merriment, the evening broke up. Apparently a few were really carried away.

Treasure Van

Principal Rae officiated at the opening of this year's Treasure Van. With the hope of fostering arts and crafts of various countries and cultures, articles from all over the world were sold.

Treasure Van is held in connection with the World University Service Overseas. The objective of W.U.S.O. is to encourage mutual service and understanding among university students throughout the world, to improve facilities within universities, and to assist students and professors in needy areas.

Credit is given to chairman Julika Fictius for this successful one week event in which both Day and Evening Students participated.

Winter Carnival Variety Show

Producer and Assistants

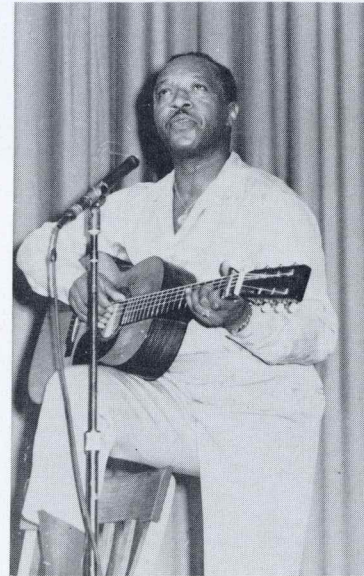

Year by year the Winter Carnival Variety Show seems to improve, but '63's really hit a new high in "big name" entertainment and all-around good showmanship. Hilariously crowning the Queen of the season was comedian Milton Berle, who shared top billing with that favourite "classic" folk singer, Josh White. The Newlanders, Ronnie Prophet, Joyce Germaine, and a list of other talented performers including S.G.W.U.'s own chorus and chorus line poured forth music and merriment to make the evening a huge success.

How about that folks!

and Carnival Ball

Never were more events featured for four days of fun than in this year's Winter Carnival. Heralding the festivities was the arrival on Georgian premises of two live penguins, Georgie and Georgette, and, rigged atop the entrance, one huge papier mache one (which at least didn't bite). The Carnival officially began with a Variety Show termed "great!"; moved into a car rally which ended with merriment at the Faisan Bleu; proceeded to the Day-Up-North, as wild and wonderful as ever; and finally terminated with a fabulous ball at the Royal Embassy Hotel.

Sadie Hawkins Week

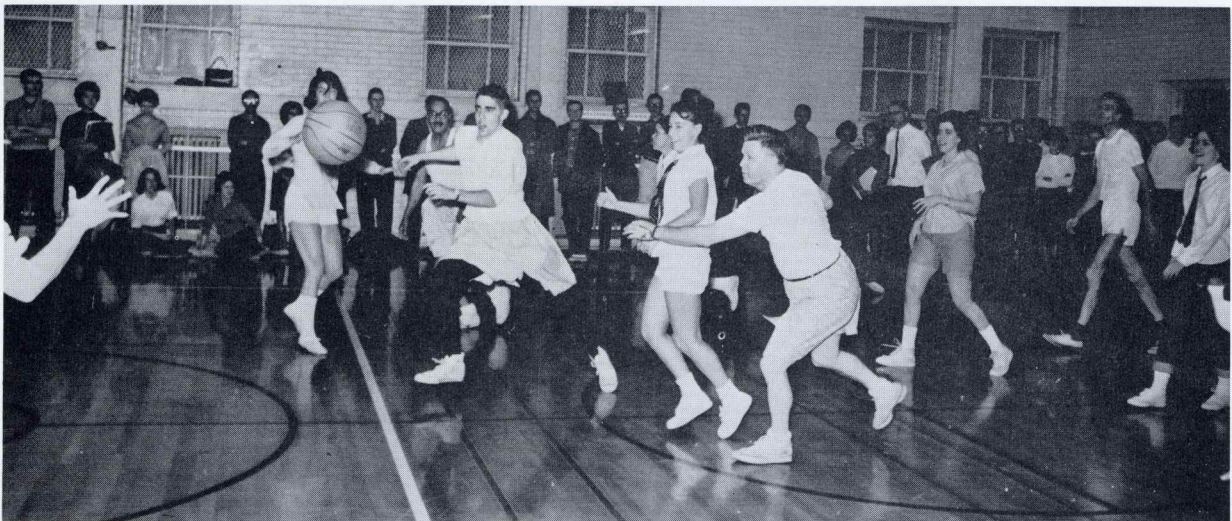

This year that old moment of truth for Georgian males, Sadie Hawkins Week, rolled once more ominously into view under the guidance of Monica Mueller. Starting with a tea-dance in the best Dogpatch tradition, the ceremonies moved on to the choosing of that timeless couple, Daisy Mae (Heather Mills) and L'il Abner (Bob Vaison), who would symbolize the highest standards in polka-dot blouses and appreciation of pork-chops. Next the Georgian girls took on the professors in a hilarious basketball game, which resulted in victory (for someone), and which was followed that evening by the showing of a film. Festivities wound up with the usual celebration at the Berkley, where Georgians attempted to rival Dogpatchers in the consumption of "joy juice" and there was revelry such as Al Capp never drew.

...I mean is this really necessary?

Model Parliament

LIBERAL CAMP

N.D.P. CAMP

The majority Liberal Government (30 seats) met little opposition from the two opposing parties, the New Democratic Party (8 seats) and the Progressive Conservative Party (7 seats).

The opening session was devoted to classifying Parliamentary procedure in order to set the boundaries for the following sessions. Legislature debates keynoted the afternoon sitting.

Only one bill managed to be opposed amid frequent Opposition obstructions, even to the point of "desk thumping." However, two speakers, Mr. E. T. Asselin M.P. for N.D.G., Deputy Speaker of the House, and Mr. John Turner for St. Lawrence-St. George brought the session to a close in serious parliamentary fashion.

Garnet & Gold Revue

Hands up

The initial step towards an annual Revue took place October 6th, 7th, 8th, 1962 when the Garnet & Gold went on stage for the first time. "A Voice from the Concrete Campus," produced and directed by Bob Hubbard, a graduate of the university, was written by Pat Salmon & Ann Keller, graduate & undergraduate respectively. Carl Palmas, musical director also contributed some original compositions. The Revue was a musical satire on political figures, current events, and university life. Included in the cast were John McFadyen, Fran Walsh, Jack Cunningham, and Cammie Kielmann.

The show ran three nights at Westhill Auditorium in anticipation of the full support of the student body. Even greater things can be expected in the 1963-64 edition of the Garnet & Gold Revue as a great deal has been learned from this our first Revue.

I think therefore...

University Model United Nations

The University Model United Nations (U.M.U.N.) is a unique University conference in that it is co-operatively sponsored by Sir George Williams, McGill, University of Montreal and Loyola College.

The fifth annual U.M.U.N. Session was held from February 6th to 9th, 1963. Sixty-five universities, including Yale, Georgetown, University of Toronto and Michigan State, represented the various nations of the U.N.

The purpose of the U.M.U.N. is to acquaint the delegates with the functions and proceedings of the United Nations through a model General Assembly, Security Council and Social and Economic Council. Besides the sessions there were two speakers, Mr. Philip Deane and Mr. Erik Valters. Sir George contributed to the conference by holding a Security Council meeting and an excellent panel on "The Sino-Indian Dispute".

Generally the delegates were impressed with the Conference and the atmosphere of Montreal. It is hoped that more Georgians will participate in the preparation and sessions of future U.M.U.N.'s.

I shall return.

Second Annual

K.E. Norris Memorial Lecture

Last year the Alumni Association inaugurated a series of lectures in memory of K. E. Norris, principal of Sir George from 1935 to 1956.

It was very fitting that this year Dr. Northrop Frye, noted critic of North American society, should deliver an address on the "Idea of a University." In his lecture there were many clever and amusing gibes at professors and students but the laughter did nothing to dissolve the leaden core of his argument. Dr. Frye feels that the function of a university is to create and maintain an image of the ideal society. Many students are often bewildered as they attempt to extend this image of the ideal society to the outside world. They fail to discover any correlation with the many isolated courses they have studied. The sensitive student sees not a coherent or comprehensible whole offering an ideal but an ideal isolated in some individuals who cannot activate it.

Dr. Frye feels that the only reason for participating in the mockery of modern university life is because we must live as though the ideal were possible. In pursuing this, the undergraduate can survive the pressures of negative or hostile values; if he will teach, he can profess his ideal and hope to perpetuate a minority which can barely maintain what will never be a common position.

This year the club held its regular classes in radio theory and morse code. During the General Science Week, the club presented its own original display on the photo electric effect. "The Oscillator", the club's publication, was distributed to all university ham clubs throughout Canada. The club hopes to obtain a radio shack in the near future so that its station VE2BAW can join the University Amateur Radio Network.

A.I.E.S.E.C. is a world wide organization with committees at well over 200 universities in over 34 countries. Its main purpose is to foster international understanding and goodwill and to promote friendly and educational relationships between students of economics and commerce of all member countries. At our annual reception for the business men of the Montreal area, Dr. Armstrong of McGill University said, "Knowledge gained from practical working experience in Europe is often more valuable than information gained from textbooks of classrooms."

This year's president, Ed Patryk, spent last summer working on a traineeship with a steel company in Holland. Ed Patryk and Roland Michaud attended the International Congress held in Princeton, New Jersey from March 30 - April 7, 1963

Potential Travelers

Bridge Club

Much experience was gained this year by many students who took part in the activities of the bridge club. Whether you were a player of the calibre of club executive Marcel Knight, or a sheer beginner who couldn't differentiate between a pass and a slay, you could thoroughly enjoy yourself and gain experience in the game. Instruction was provided and rubbers organized for players of all ranks. All in all, much bridge was played, much experience was gained, and many good times enjoyed by all.

Debating Union

SPEAKER: Arnie Fredkin

With vigor, Comrade.

I want to say this about that.

Activity in the Debating Union has been growing constantly, and has achieved its greatest record this year. A novice training program was held, and sponsored Frank Hanley's appearance.

The club participated in the largest American and Canadian tournaments, some of which were Harvard, Columbia, McGill, Winter Carnival, Bishops, and Vermont. As well, they represented SGWU on the CBC debating tournament and accepted individual challenges at MacDonald College and Hillel.

Intramurally, the Debating Union directly aided Freshman Week, participated in the Mock Trial, held a debate for the DDWA, and held many lunch-hour debates.

Future prospects are bright and promising.

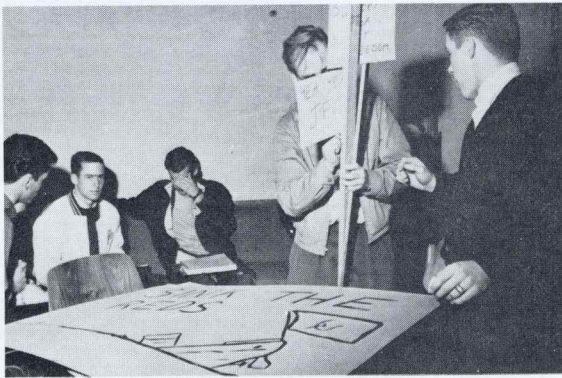

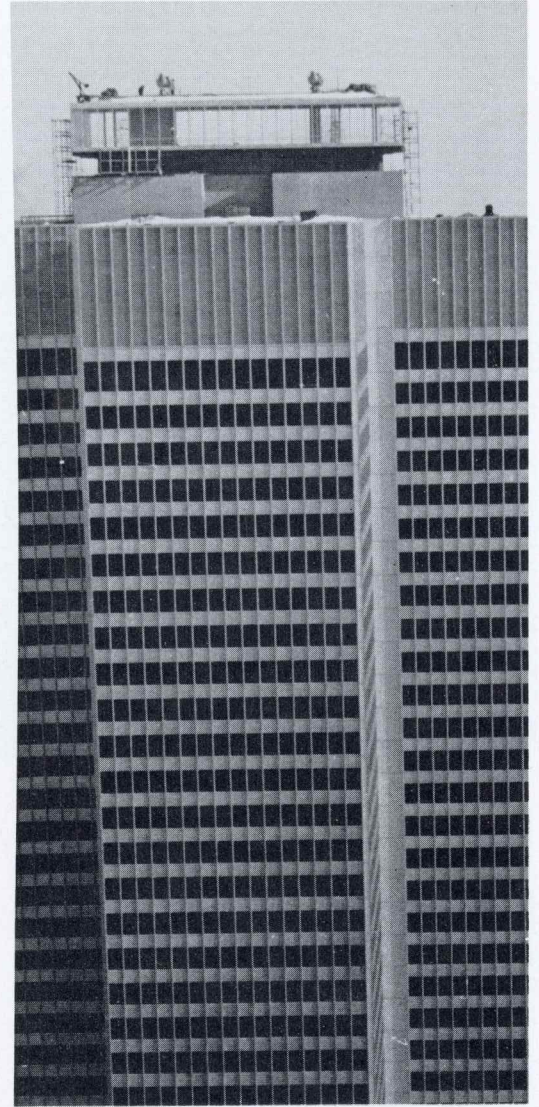

Many people during the year have asked, somewhat remorsefully, where is that Old Georgian Spirit? Even with the office building type university, that we supposedly have, there is a Georgian Spirit if we but set aside our apathetic attitude for a few days.

Certainly the disharmonious overture of horns, revving motors, and aggravated drivers is not conducive to a lecture room atmosphere. During the past winter, when icy roads made this already intolerable situation unbearable, Our Georgians, in the true Georgian Spirit, came up with the solution. Our Georgians simply railroaded cars, trucks, and any other noise makers into the snowbanks along the curbs. Needless to say by the afternoon Drummond Street was salted and traffic was moving smoothly. Our Georgians should control Drummond Street between St. Catherine and Burnside.

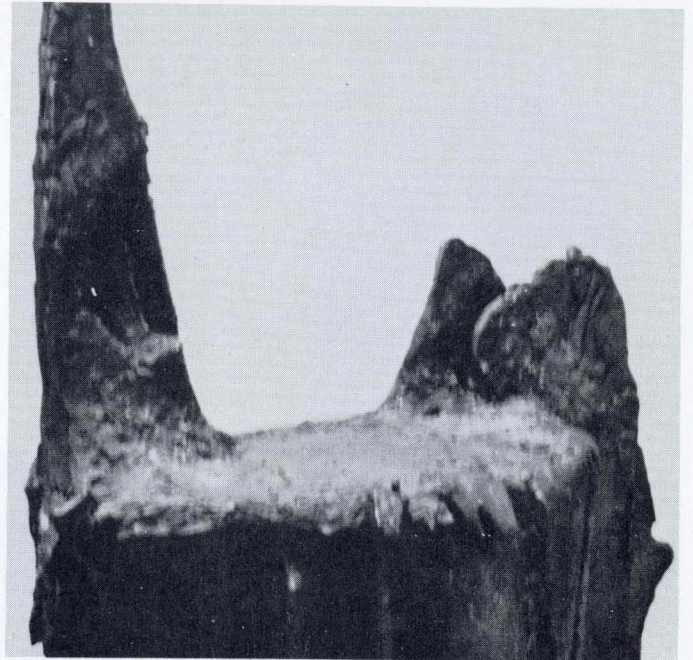

Again the Old Georgian Colours were rallied in demonstration of J. F. Kennedy's military and then supported this stand.

Is there a Georgian Spirit? Indeed there is. Let's grab that Old Georgian Jacket and get with it.

FINE ARTS CLUB

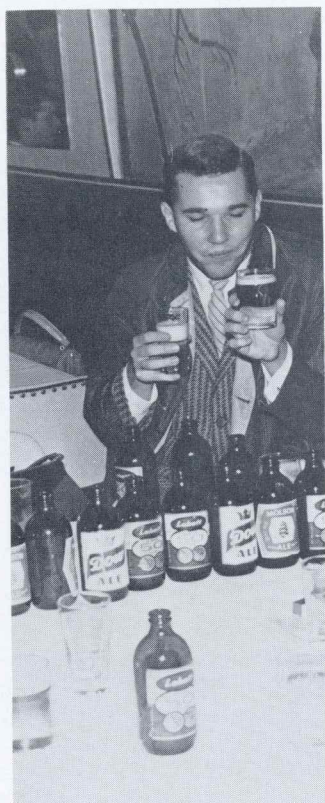

The Fine Arts Club sponsored jointly by the S.U.S. & the E.S.A. is a cultural club within the University. This Club provides programmes whereby the students may become more familiar with art, folkdancing, and music. Displays were set up in the main lobby and Saturday afternoon exhibitions were held in the basement area. The efforts of this Club were appreciated by both the students and the faculty.

Mock Trial

Early in December an alarming event occurred to mar the previously unsullied moral record of our beloved University. Miss Virginia Spring, an outraged coed, reported the repeated appearance of a "peeping tom" in the women's locker room. Immediately the wheels of justice began to spin and Mr. Thomas Ogle was apprehended for the crime. Held incommunicado despite attempts by the Psychology Club to psychoanalyze him, the Georgian to buy his life story, and the campus political societies to run him for model parliament, Ogle was soon brought to trial before a capacity student courtroom audience. An earnest case was presented by the prosecution, under Arnie Fradkin, but a smart lawyer (Lionel Chetwynd) won Mr. Ogle an acquittal.

Georgian Players

First you have to know how to relax

Now, this is a chair

Starting the season with the "Experimentals" the Georgian Players carried out a highly successful programme. In the fall there was a series of three one-act plays; "Whimidea," "Zanoria", and "Sammy". "Whimidea" was a special interest to Georgians as it was written by Jack Cunningham, a present student.

The Players were given honorable mention for their presentation of "Whimidea" at the I.V.D.L. in Toronto.

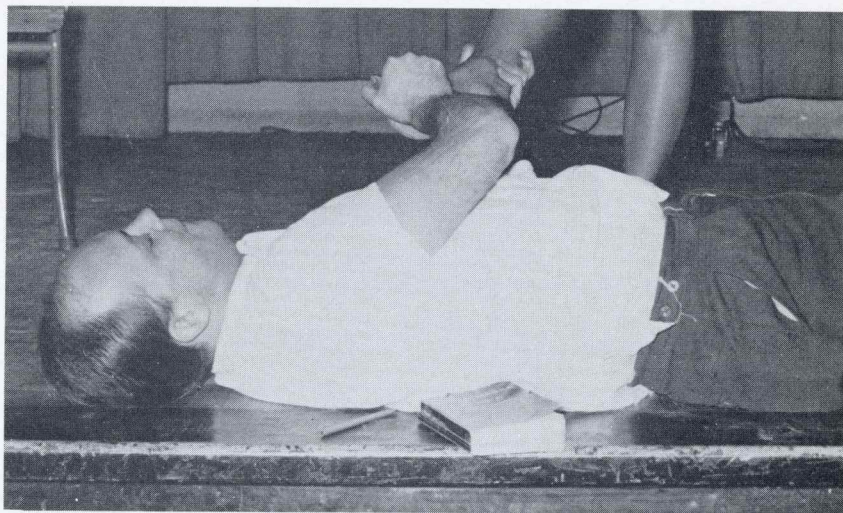

The long strenuous rehearsal hours were rewarded by the Player's major production of "Six Characters in Search of an Author" in the spring.

The Executive

1962-63 was another active year for the C.I.C. The program consisted of films on radioactivity, biochemistry and thermodynamics; trips to the Shell Oil company and to a pharmaceutical firm.

Meetings, chaired by president Howard Alper, were held on such topics as "The Nature of the Chemical Bond," the Aluminum Industry, and on Enzyme Kinetics.

For the first time the C.I.C. published the "Filter Paper," which contains articles on various topics of interest to chemistry students.

No professors were dissolved this year, but next year's executive is more capable in the field of research.

Psychology Club.

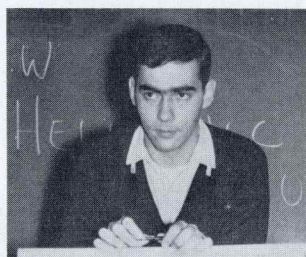

Once a week the Psychology Club met for group therapy sessions by presenting lectures, films, discussions, and a tour. Guest speakers included Mr. Steve Cumas, Executive Director of the John Howards Society, and Drs. Mahoney and Dimock who spoke on Vocational Choice and Adolescence respectively.

Pres. Roma Minc and members.

A highlight of the club's activities was the tour to the Verdun Protestant (Mental) Hospital which was held to acquaint the student with the procedures and problems of modern clinical psychology and psychiatry. The films included "Unconscious Motivation," "Out of Darkness", and "Hypnotic Behavior".

After an extremely successful year in 1961-'62, the Liberal Club executive was rather worried that 1963 would be a let-down after such an active year. However, they did not fear for long and got their 1963 program off to a fast start by having René Levesque as guest speaker in Birks Hall.

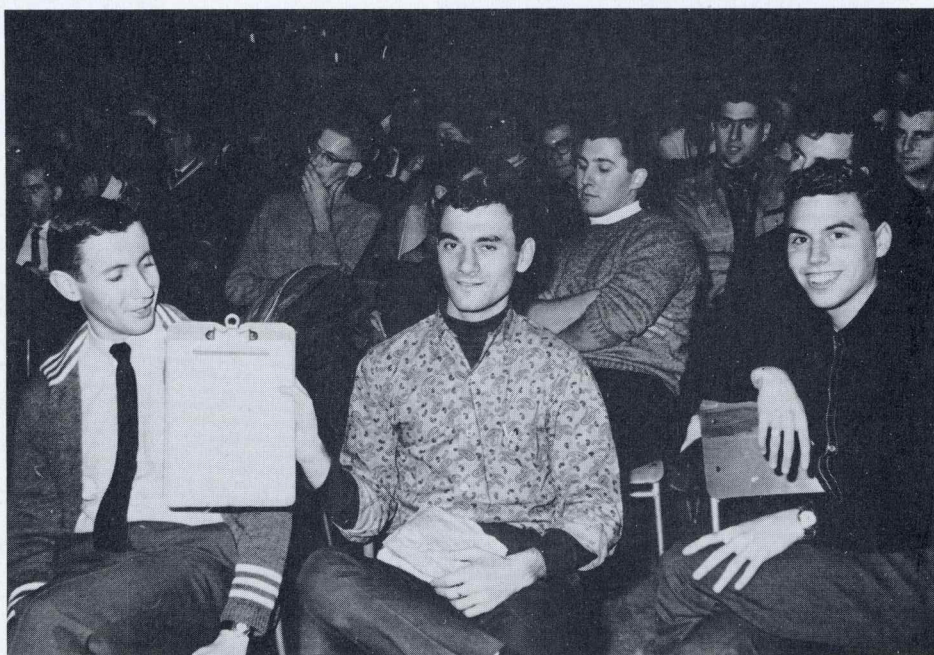

The club members then took a trip to Ottawa as guests of John Turner and Bud Drury. Since then the Liberal Club has sent delegations to two conventions where the members met with both Mr. Pearson and Premier Lesage. The program for this year is coming to an end but they are looking forward to an even more active year next September.

New Democratic Party

New Democrats at Model Parliament.

The New Democrats opened their programs with a highly successful meeting with provincial party spokesman, Michel Chartrand. Their other major events included speakers Tom Berger M.P. and Jack Wynter union spokesman for the Railway Brotherhood Union. The main event of this year was a panel discussion on "Socialism in Canada" with professors McCullough and Lerner SGWU, and Taylor and Oliver of McGill. Independent student policy was formulated at seven membership meetings which had a total attendance of well over one hundred. The climax of this years activities was the election of the New Democrats to the Official Opposition in the Model Parliament.

In February the Club participated, with members of other political clubs, in a panel, sponsored by the S.C.M., on the Nuclear Arms issue.

Rifle Club

Trouble Shooters

The Rifle Club is one of the University's largest and most active clubs. It meets twice a week for regular practice. From the club's membership the varsity rifle team is chosen. The team is under the control of the Athletic Association and competes against military and civilian universities across Canada in the C.U.R.L. and O.S.L.I.A.A. competitions.

Tri-Service

The Service Organizations form an integral part of college life on any campus, but they are especially important at Sir George. Lacking the nucleus for activities that are usually formed by fraternities, the UNTD, COTO, and URTP, while not strictly part of college activities serve to bring many students initially together.

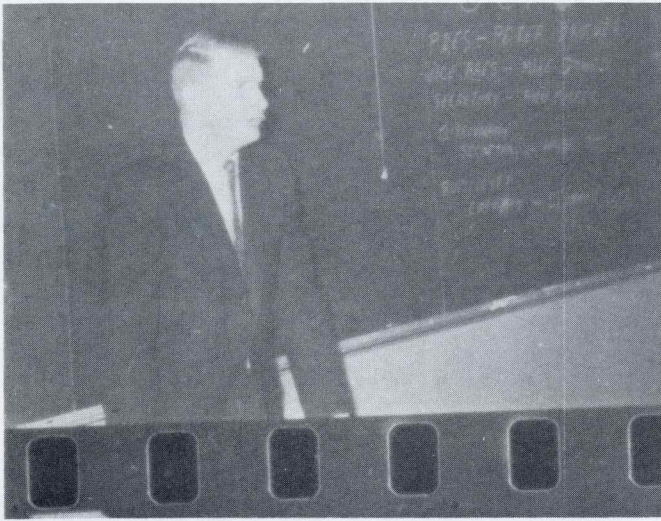

The members of all three services are required to attend at least one parade a week and to participate in summer training. This proves to be a source of income and summer employment for many students while supplying excellent training and an opportunity to make friendships with others of other universities from coast to coast. The result of these activities is a Queen's Commission in Canada's armed forces reserve.

This un-Spartan regime is made further memorable by the social functions, mess dinners, pre-dance cocktail parties, the Tri-Service Ball, and other numerous activities held during the college year.

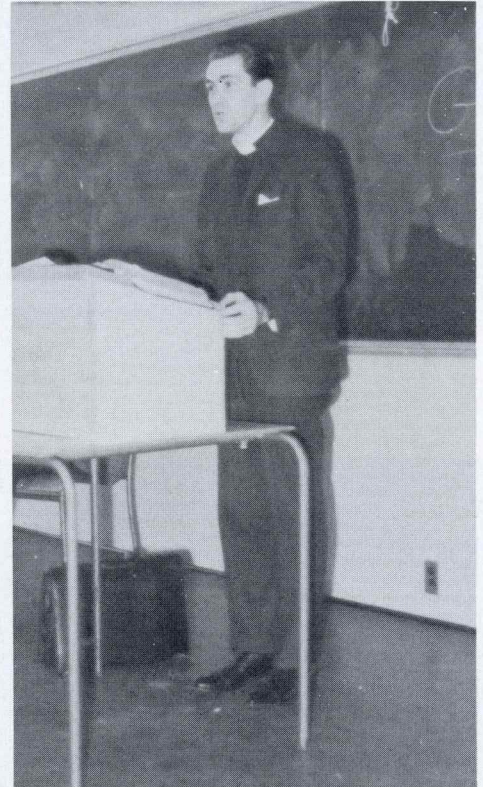

Georgian Christian Fellowship

The motto of the Georgian Christian Fellowship organization is "To know Christ and to make him Known". This organization seeks to achieve a more mature and deeper spiritual experience through Bible readings and prayer.

This club also takes a keen interest in missionary work with the purpose of extending the gospel to foreign lands. Meetings are open to all Georgians and an attempt is made to extend the Christian atmosphere on Campus.

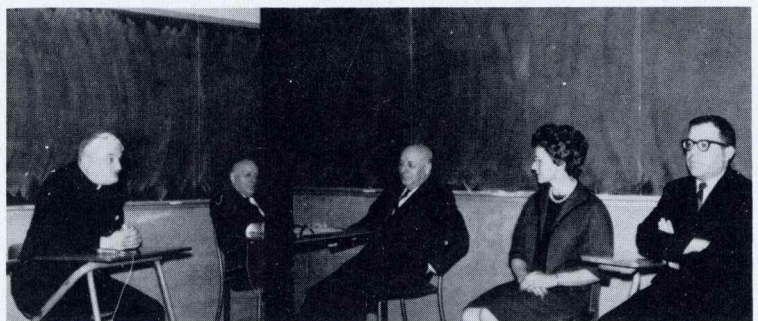

Student Christian Movement

Pres. Paul Smith

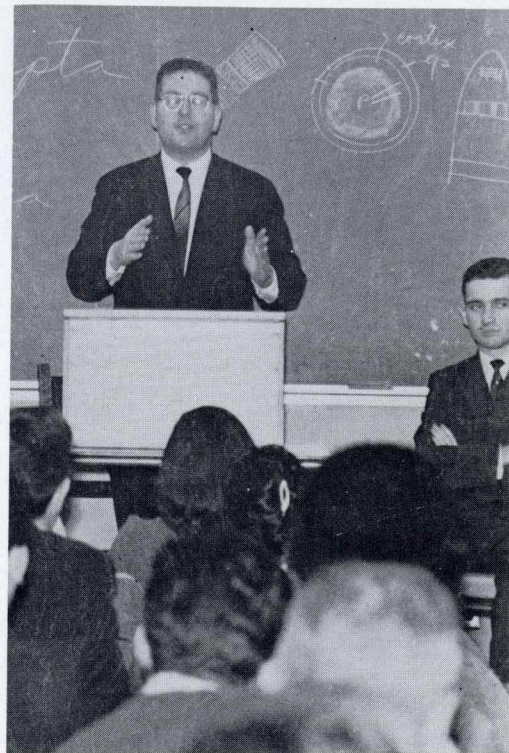

The Student Christian Movement is an organization which invites the student to present his view, and by associating with others to acquire new views. The primary aim of this is to present Jesus Christ to the student body and to the world. Georgians are cordially invited to join in the fellowship of weekly meetings and discussion groups.

Hillel

The B'nai B'rith Hillel Counsellorship is the recognized Jewish community on campus at Sir George. Again this year, programs held at Hillel House and within the University sought to lead its members toward glad identification with the Jewish people, its faith and traditions, and toward the contribution of its values to the community at large, through enlightened citizenship.

Many outstanding programs were conducted during the year toward this end and for its efforts the Counsellorship was happy to receive this year's S.U.S. best club award.

Buber and Pres.

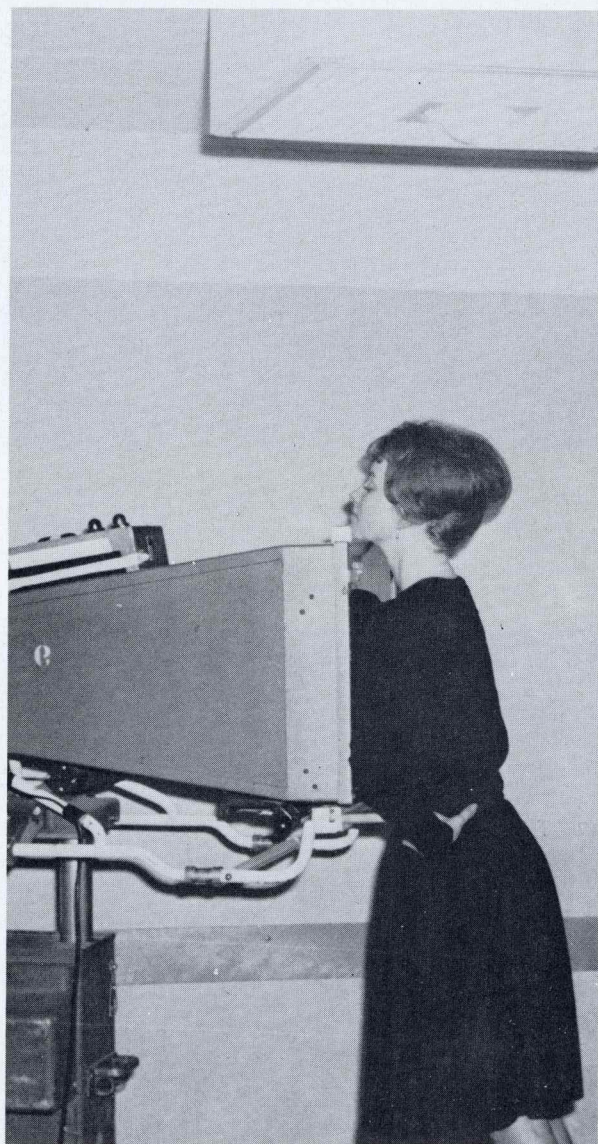

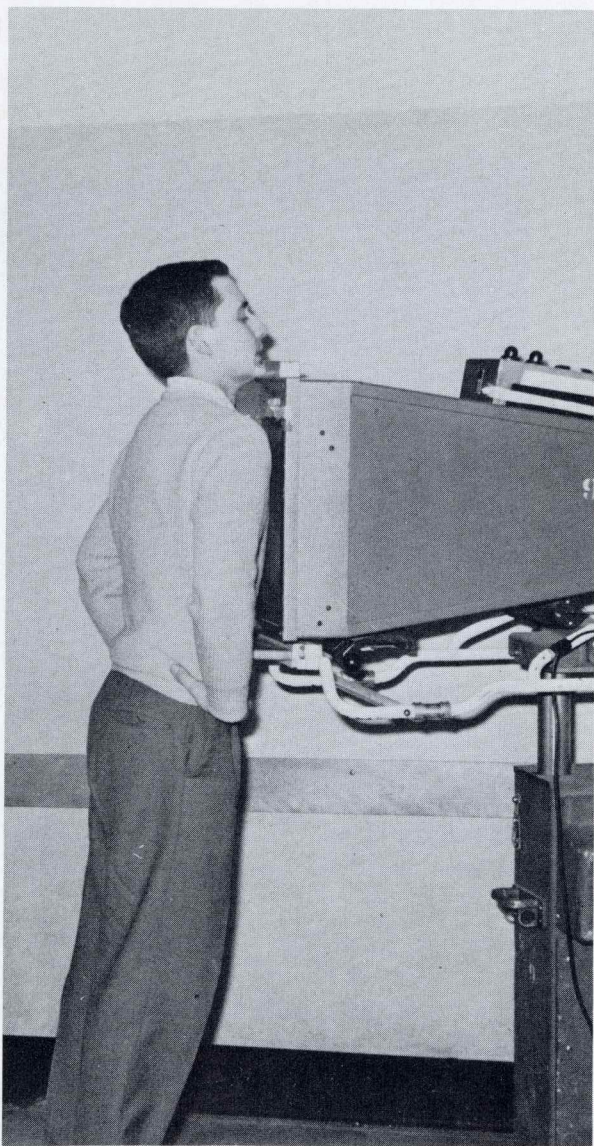

West Indian Society

The West Indian Society had a very busy year. Among its activities was a "West India Week" which was a unqualified success. During this week different aspects of West Indian culture were presented. Several speakers were received during the year including representatives from Jamaica, Trinidad and Barbadoes. Progress was made towards the establishment of West India House which is due to be opened this September.

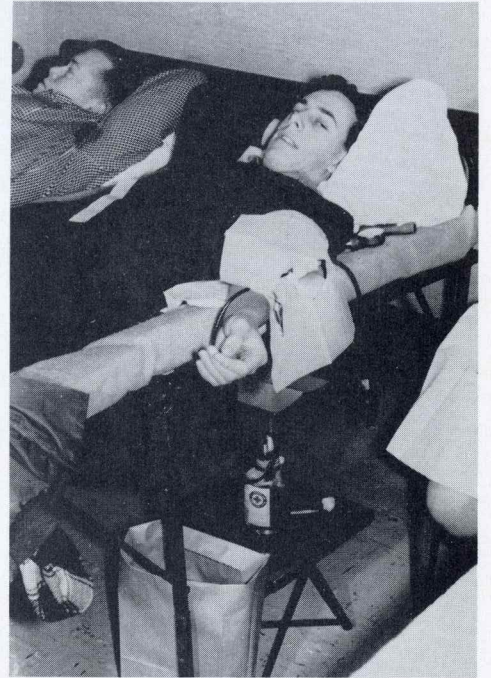

T.B. Clinic.

Blood Donor Clinic

This won't hurt a bit

"Bleed!" the signs said, and with utmost alacrity Georgians rallied to that call. As 1001 pints trickled into the bottles, John Feldman and committee dished out food and such celebrities as exotic Fawzia Amir, while Count Dracula, in best theatrical form, tripped a rather heavy fantastic through the classrooms.

And not only did this December success ensure that Sir George Williams blood would have a part in the saving of countless lives, but a more immediate reward was on hand for donors: a chance at an all-expense-paid trip to New York for two.

Y.M.C.A. Secretaries-in-Training

Fred McGregor and Gord Meyers aid Peruvians in the off-season.

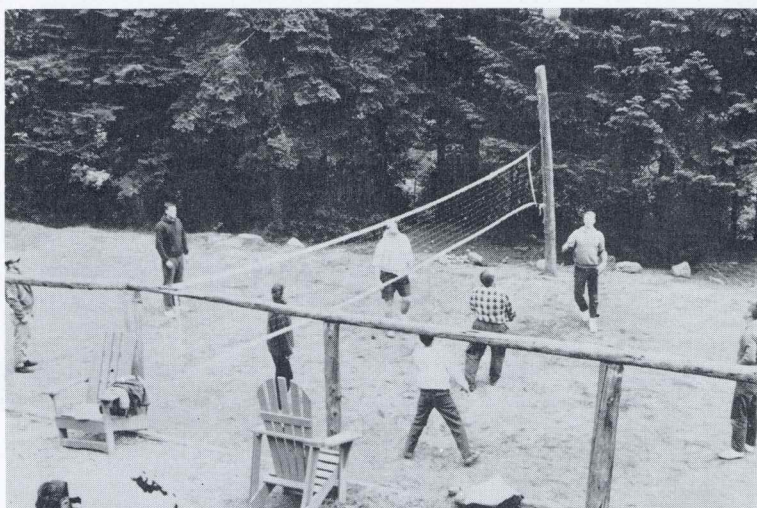

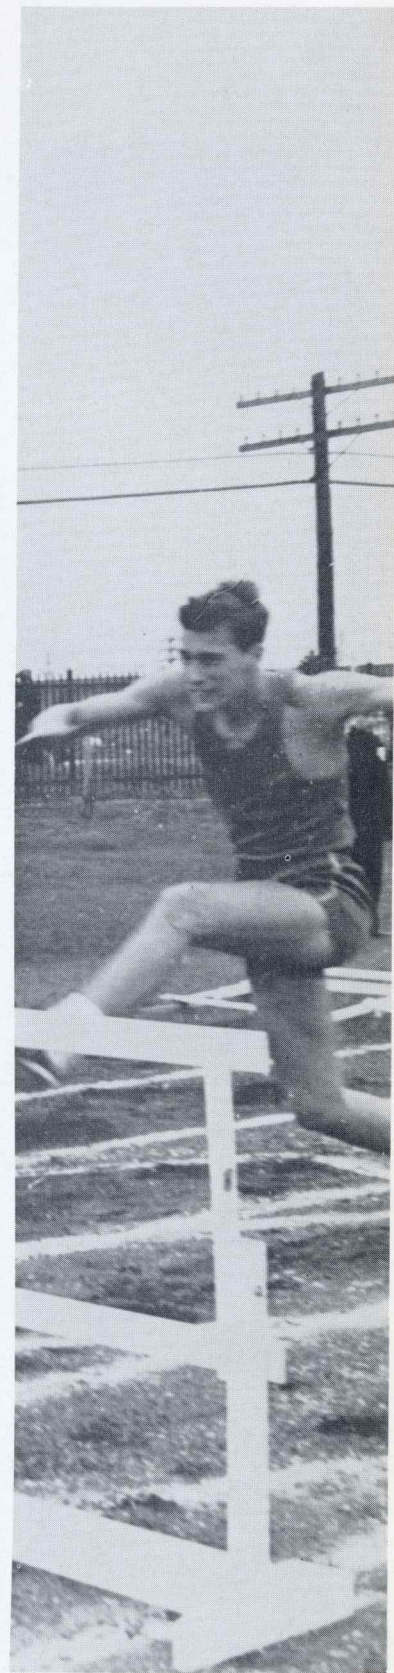

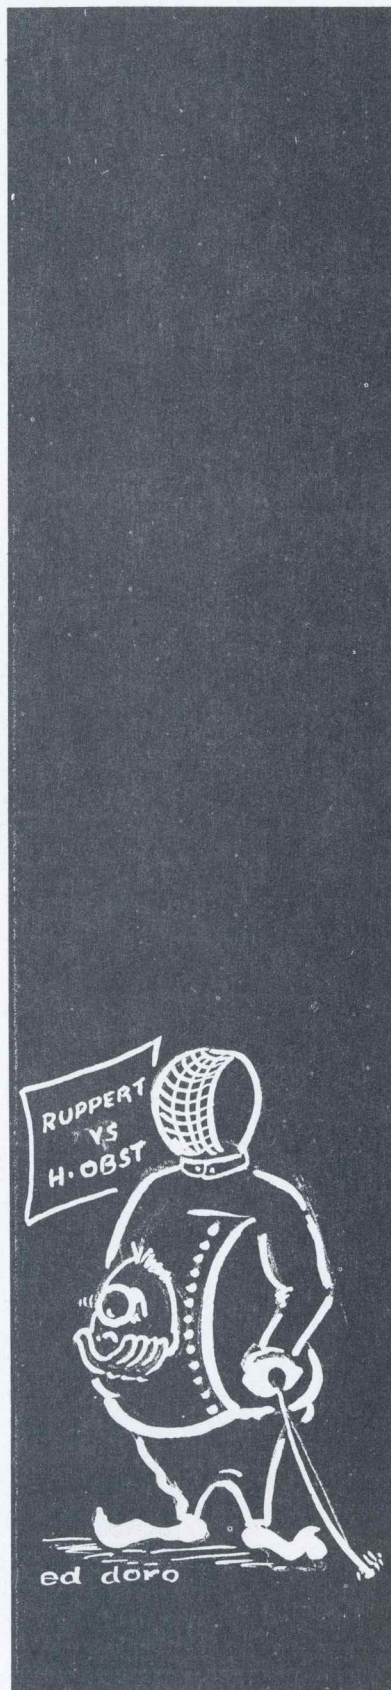

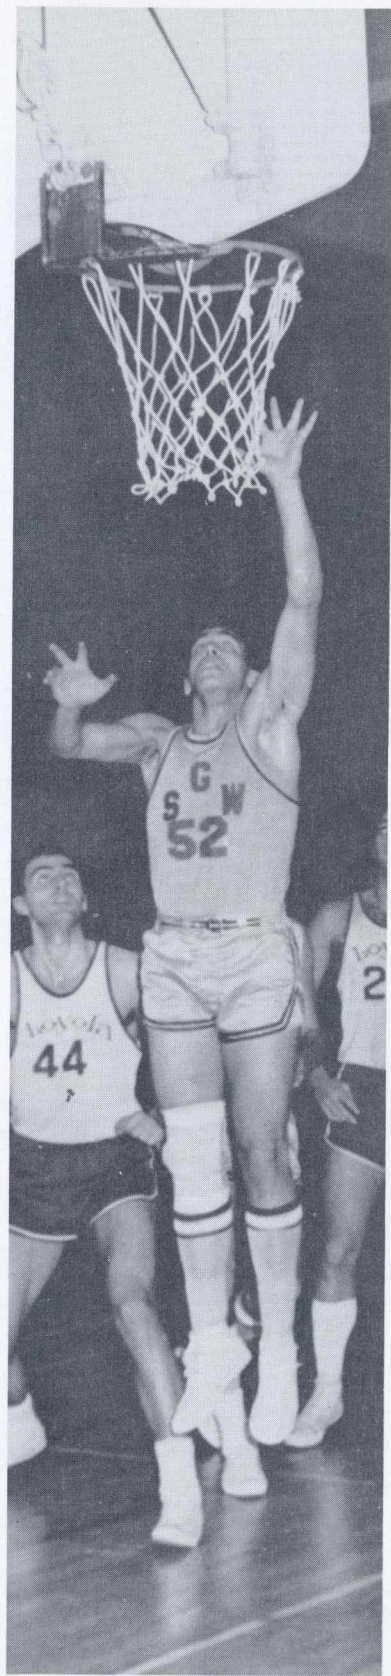

Fellowshippers and friends hear Secretary-General Fred Franklin.

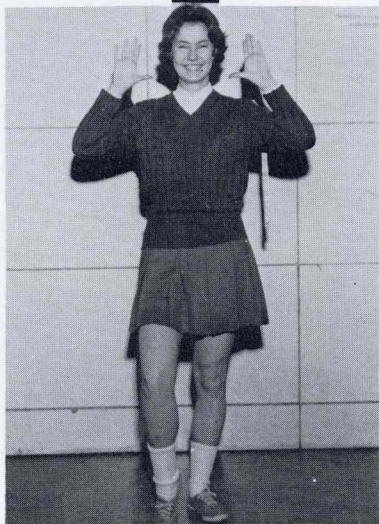

The smiling stalwarts here assembled represent some forty-odd of the Y.M.C.A.'s finest - perhaps better known to Georgians as Fellowship students. They gather in Montreal each September from all parts of Canada, to embark upon a year of study, fellowship, and part-time work in the many Y.M.C.A. branches throughout the city. Common among them is the desire to enter the Y.M.C.A. as professional Secretaries upon graduation and a comfort to them along the way is the secret knowledge that if they can come through four years of this, they can come through anything.

Tennis

Due to continuous bad weather, the tennis team was able to compete in only one tournament this year, which was the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Conference tournament held at C.M.R. The spirited Georgian team, under coach Peter Vita, placed third against seven other university teams.

Squash

Once again the squash season saw S.G.W.U. boasting a spirited and eager team under the direction of coach Bill Johnson. If lack of facilities kept them from squash immortality, there are great hopes of future improvement. Meanwhile, this year they attended tournaments at Dartmouth, McGill, and the M.A. A.A. where they met very strong competition. It is hoped that next year will see a further increase in participation by the students.

Track and Field

This year's Georgian track and field team participated in the only meet held at C.M.R. Although the team stood fourth out of an entry of six, they were only 3 points behind third place Ottawa U.

Outstanding individual effort was shown by Bill Strain who came first in the pole vault competition; Tony Bush who captured second place in the 220 yard run; and V. Morris who managed a third in the high jump event.

 Sir George 4 Carleton 3
 *Sir George victory by default

Under the capable supervision of coach Peter Wilcox, the much improved '62-'63 edition of the Georgian soccer squad handily walked away with the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Conference title. In the regular schedule the team went undefeated to the heartbreak of the McGillians who were forced to default a game with Sir George because of ineligible players.

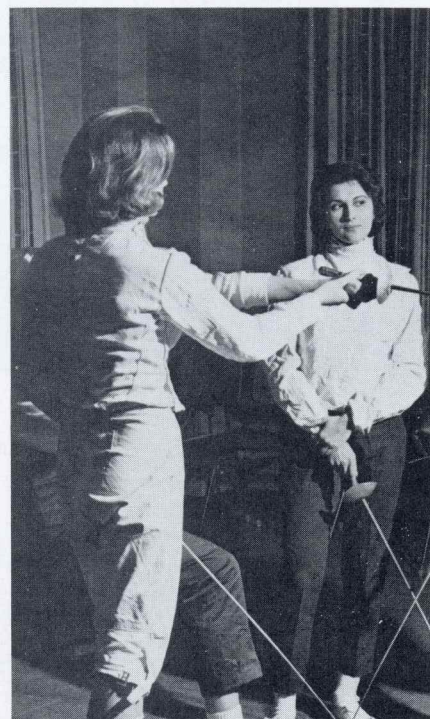

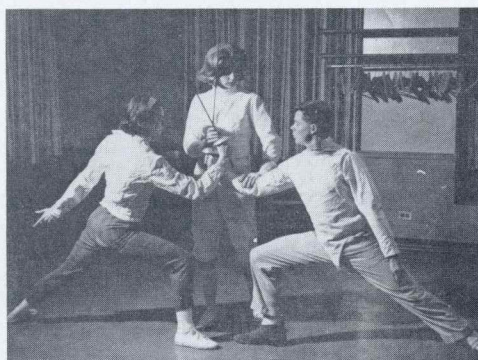

In addition the Georgians further proved their might by winning four exhibition games against university squads.

The team deserves great credit for their outstanding achievements. The players faced the challenge in spite of little support from the student body throughout the season. Next year's team should prove to be equally successful with the return of a large percentage of this year's players. We are confident that we can look forward to a repeat performance next fall.

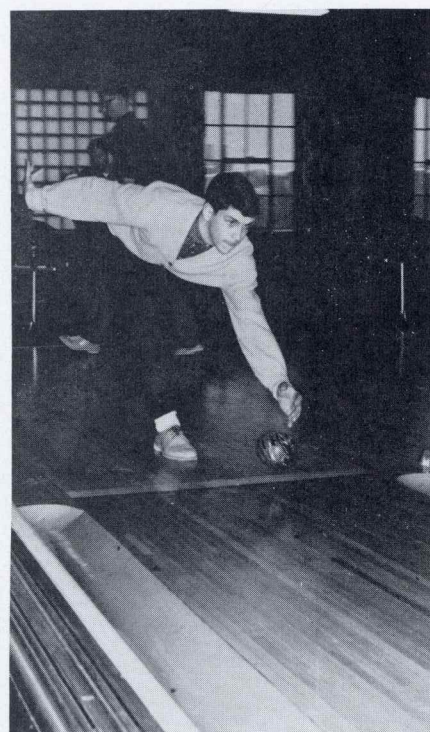

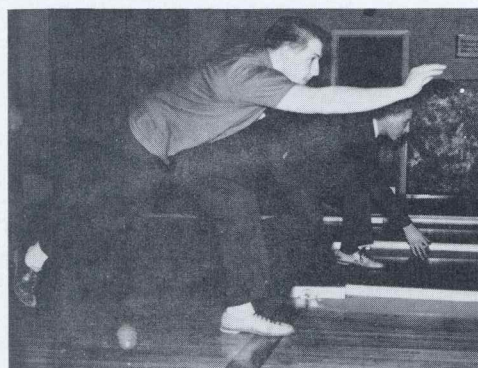

Fencing Club

With an all-novice group assembled and trained by Barbara Jack, this year's fencing club could hardly be said to have "foiled" the champions of Europe. Nonetheless, at meetings held every Friday night, gloves slapped and foils slashed to set these hallowed halls ringing with "En garde"s, "Touché"s and "Egad, my eye!"s. Too fresh for competition this year, those members who return next season should provide Sir George with a team worthy of crossing any swords.

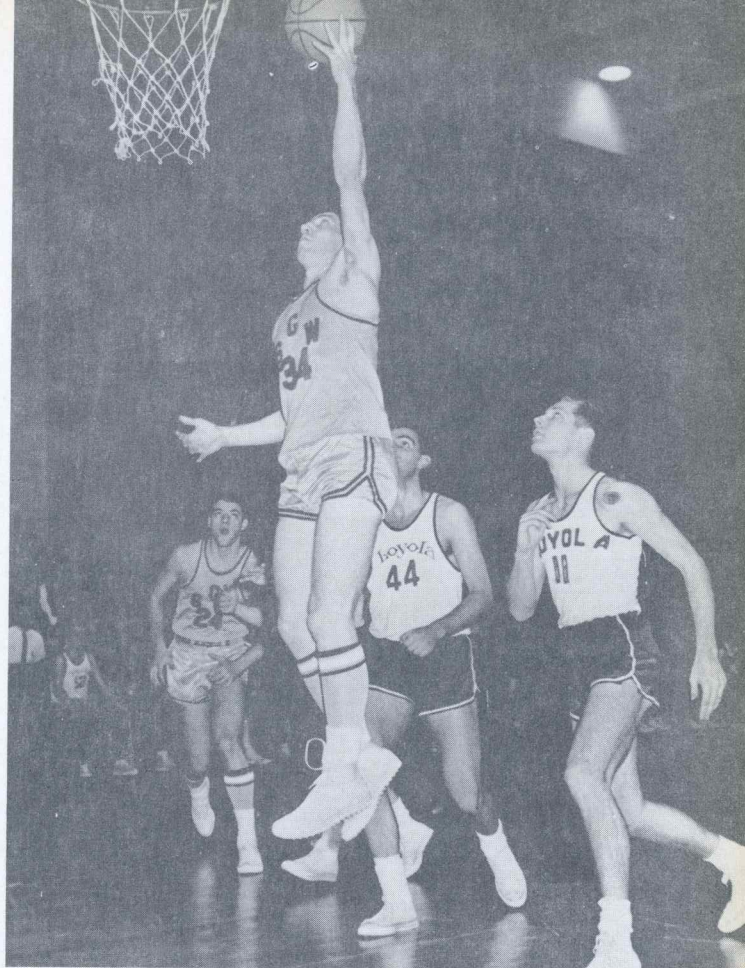

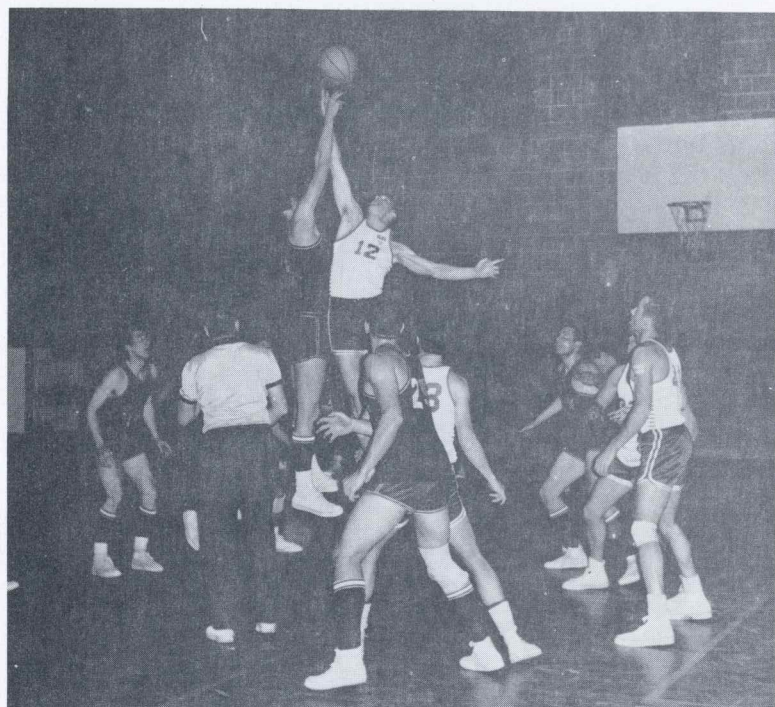

Bowling

This year's bowling activity has been highlighted by the keen competition of two mixed leagues composed of ten teams. The race for top honours has been very close throughout the year. Each league has met once a week either on Wednesday or Thursday afternoons, at well known local lanes. Bowling participation has been very enthusiastic and has proved to be a source of enjoyment for many Georgians.

Senior Basketball

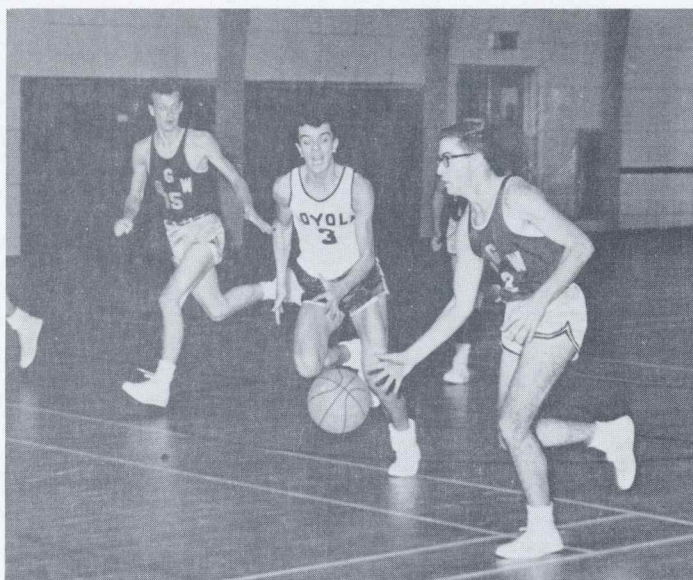

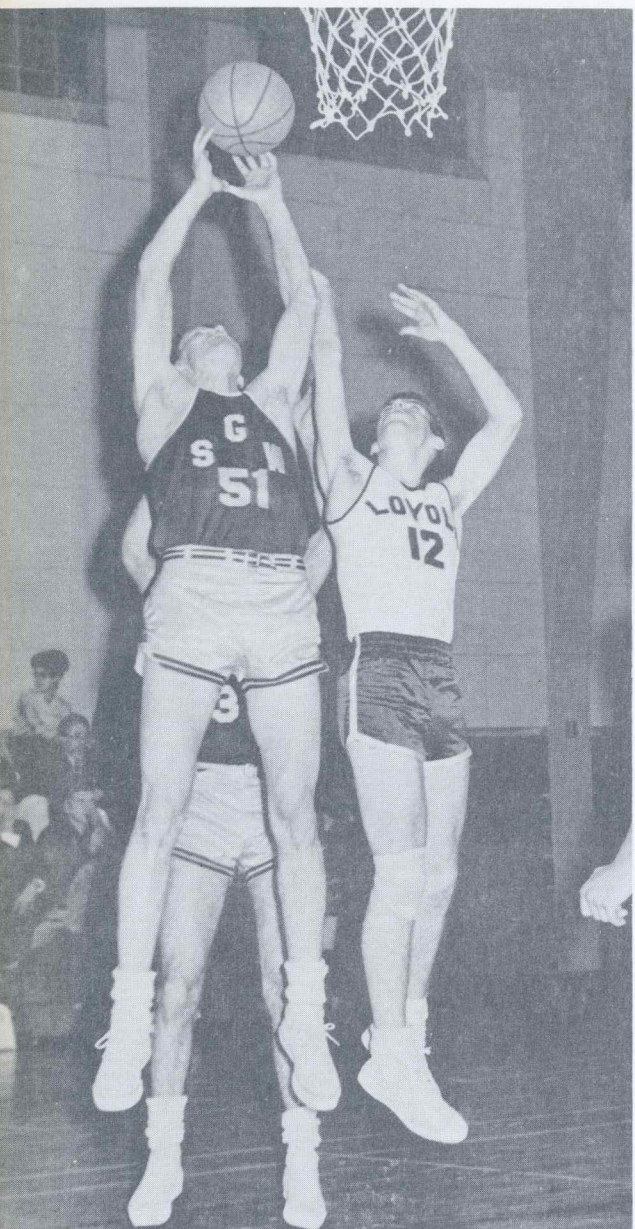

This year saw the Senior Varsity basketball squad going through a rebuilding stage with most of the players appearing in senior competition for the first time. Under the capable guidance of rookie coach Bob Berkman, the team recovered from an early season slump to end the O.S.L.I.A.A. schedule in second place. In the playoffs, Sir George lost their three year monopoly on the championship to Loyola College. In C.I.B.L. play, they also surrendered their league title but only after a very strong effort.

Despite the loss of veterans Bob Watson, who starred with the Georgians during the past four seasons, and Dave Gavsie, Berkman's rookies will undoubtedly use this year's experience to their advantage next season when they make their bid to reclaim the championships.

Junior Basketball

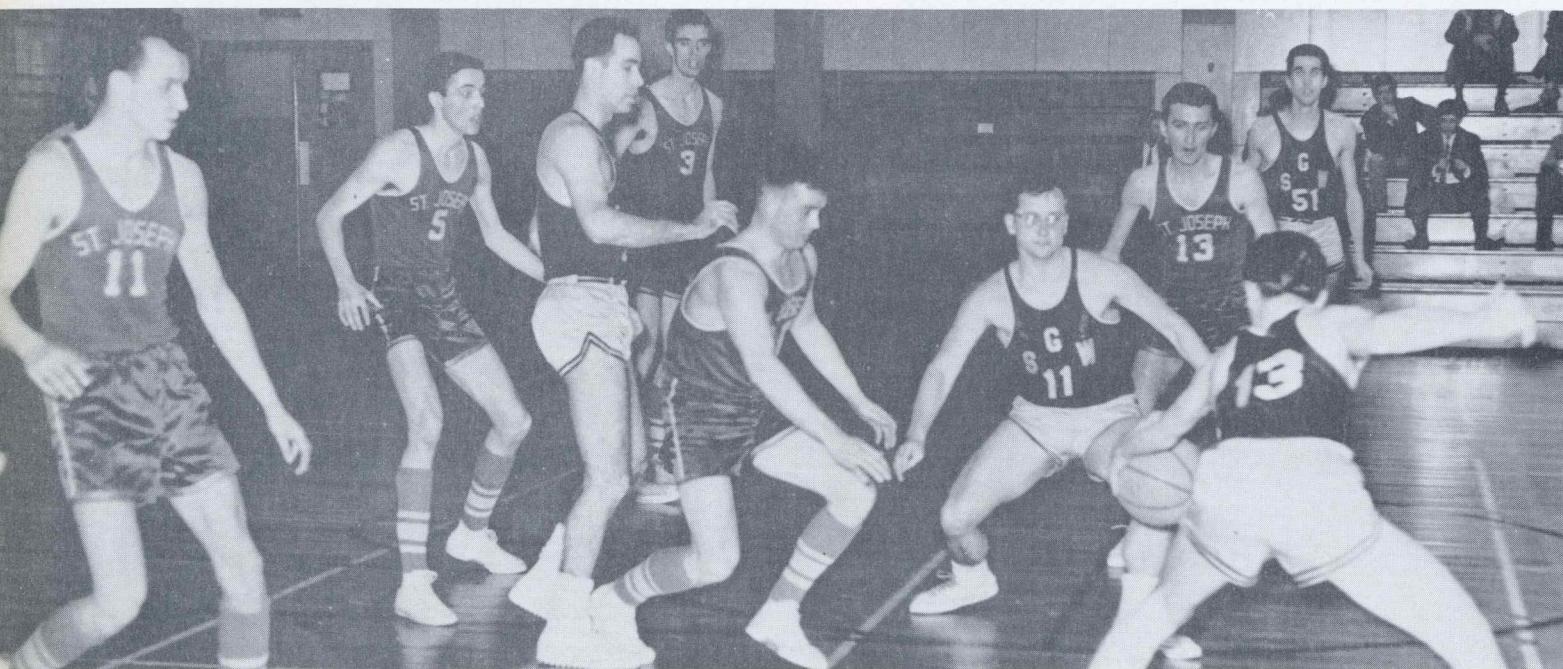

The 1962-63 edition of the Junior Varsity Basketball team enjoyed their most successful season in several years as they placed second in the CIBL. The Georgians were beaten by St. Joseph's Teachers College in a playoff for the league honours.

Al Hirsch's squad had a conference record of 7 wins and 4 losses, all of the four losses coming at the hands of St. Josephs.

We understand that the players felt tremendous satisfaction concerning three consecutive victories over our cross city rivals the McGill Indians. A switch!

Top men for the Georgians were Ron Otto, Barry Joyal and Ian Boright with averages of 14.5, 10.8 and 10.5 respectively.

Girls' Basketball:

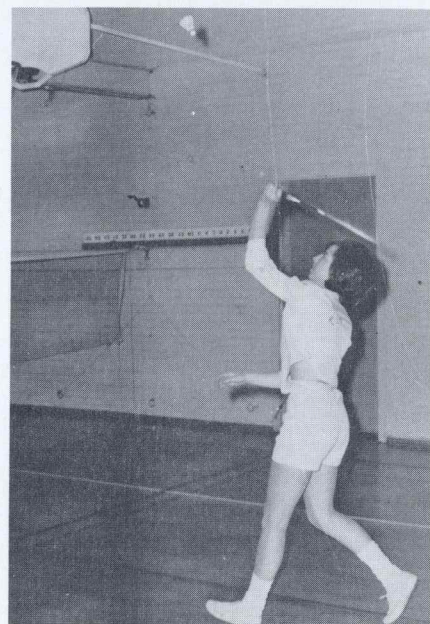

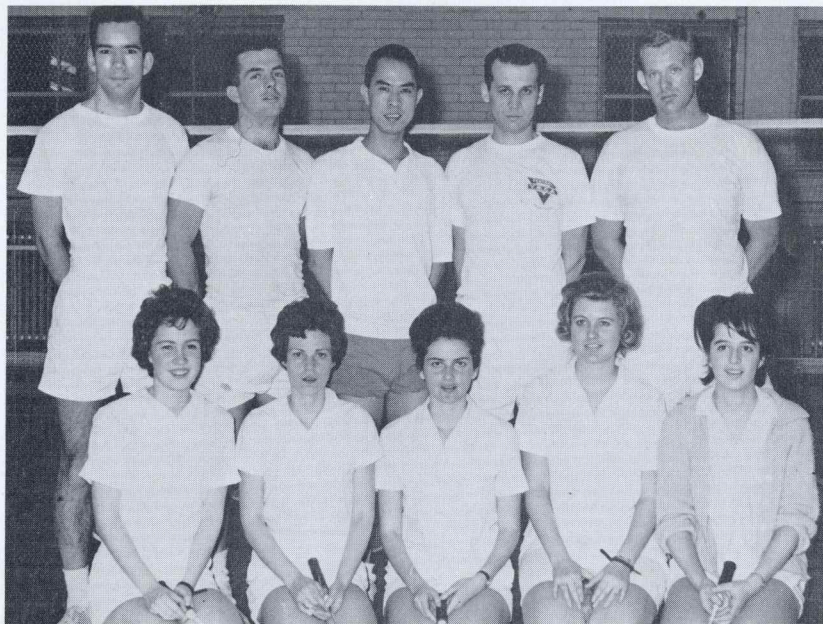

Shorts and sneakers were donned on occasion again this year by the girls basketball team. The girls under the leadership of coach Maureen Ring faired well in the Montreal Women's Basketball League against stiff opposition.

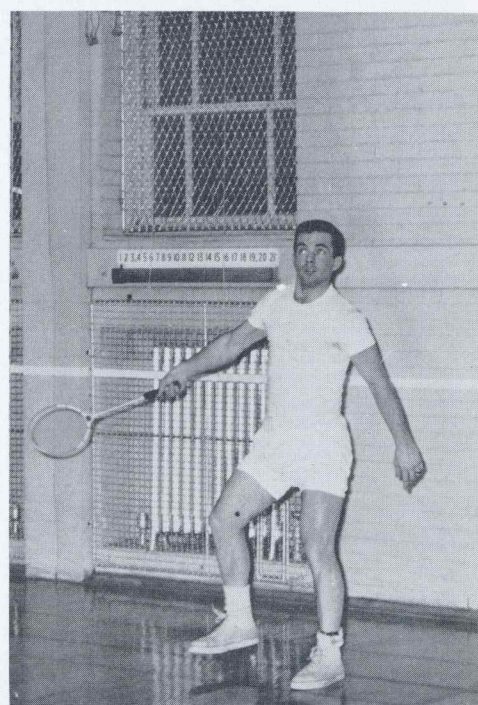

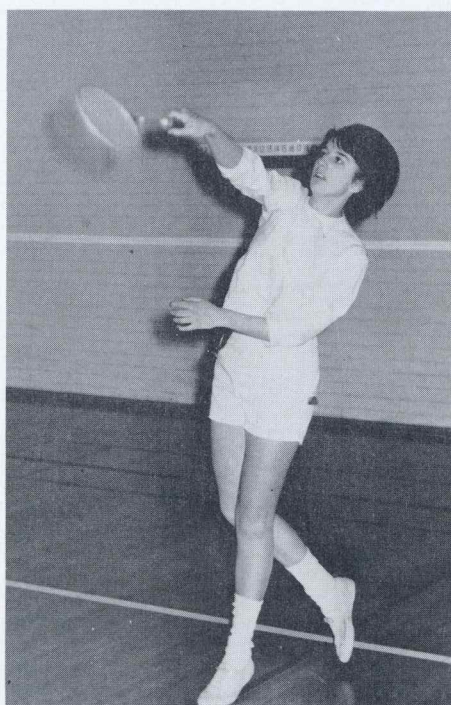

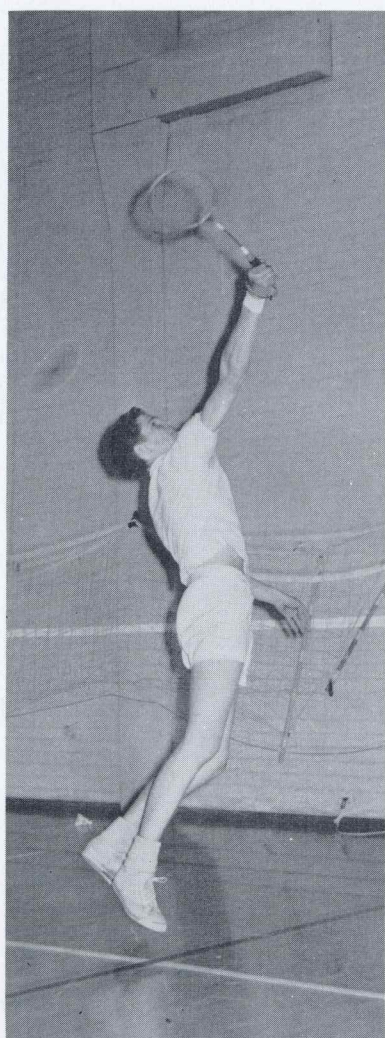

A great deal of talent and enthusiasm was shown by our lady team. Home games were played at Montreal High gym. The game proved a great source of pleasure for the girls, and it is hoped that next year there will be greater interest shown by the student body.

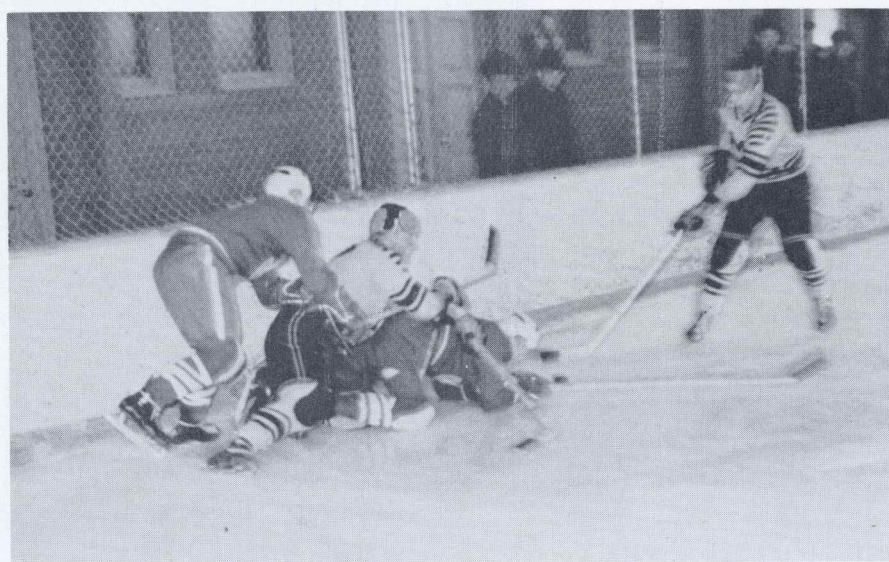

Badminton Club

The Badminton Club, sometimes a failing light on campus, this year fixed a higher-voltage bulb into their lamp and shone out bravely. At meetings held every Friday night, the club kept that birdie swishing back and forth so vigorously that they were able to enter a mixed team in city league competition. Participating in the "C" division of the Murray Badminton League, Georgian players turned in distinguished performances, proving once more that Sir George excels with any racket.

Once again this year Maroon skates dug into the ice as our beloved team slipped, skidded and scored its way through the season. A disappointing beginning was more than made up for by a late spurt which won the team fourth place in OSLIAA. Against such sharp competition as Ottawa, Carleton, Bishop's, and Loyola the boys in boots displayed a style which made the competition play up to our high calibre of hockey.

Skiing Club

If you enjoy standing on two pieces of wood as they ride down a long white hill, with or without your direction, skiing is the sport for you. The Skiing Club, finding on its hands a number of people to whom this sort of thing appealed, this year gave instruction in the hope that less blood would mingle with the nylon fibres on the slopes. Every Tuesday and Wednesday nights eager enthusiasts assembled to bend their knees and dream of snowy inclines. No team was formed but the club held a Day up North where its students finally took to their wings.

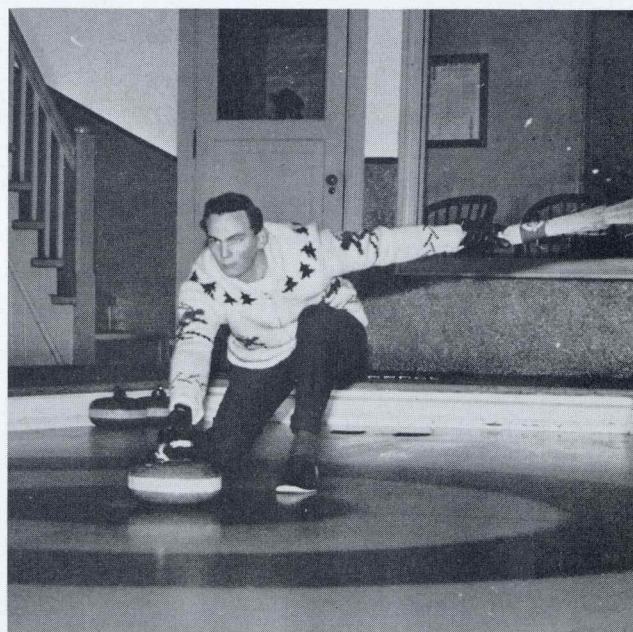

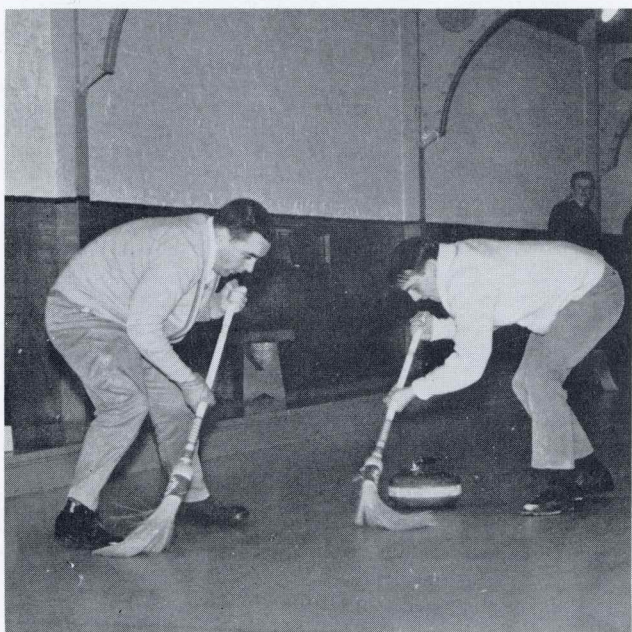

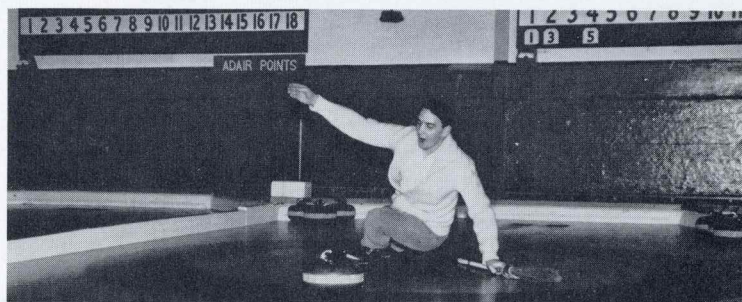

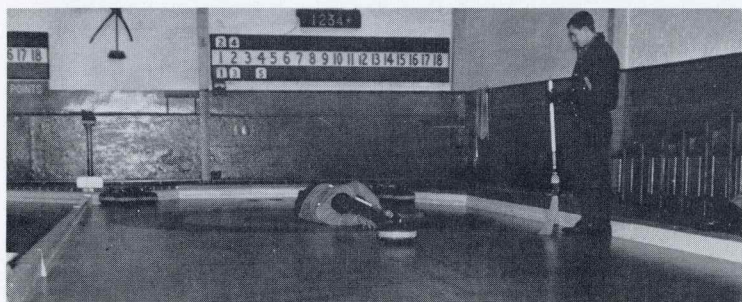

Curling

Fast becoming one of the most popular sports in Canada, curling got a warm reception at S.G.W.U. Three teams this year took to the ice in bonspiels including the O.S. L.I.A.A. Invitational and several senior bonspiels in the Montreal area, to place the Georgian stone in high standing. Senior competition was handled by the number one team, skipped by Brian Cave, which remains largely intact for another season of broom-work in '63-'64.

The Sir George water-polo team made a valiant attempt to defend their Ottawa-St. Lawrence title this year. With the exception of a few veterans, the squad consisted almost entirely of rookies whose enthusiasm and team spirit far overshadowed their lack of experience. Inspired by coach Jim McBride, the team had several successes in pre-season exhibition games. With the return of most of the players, next year's team will prove to be a definite contender for the championship.

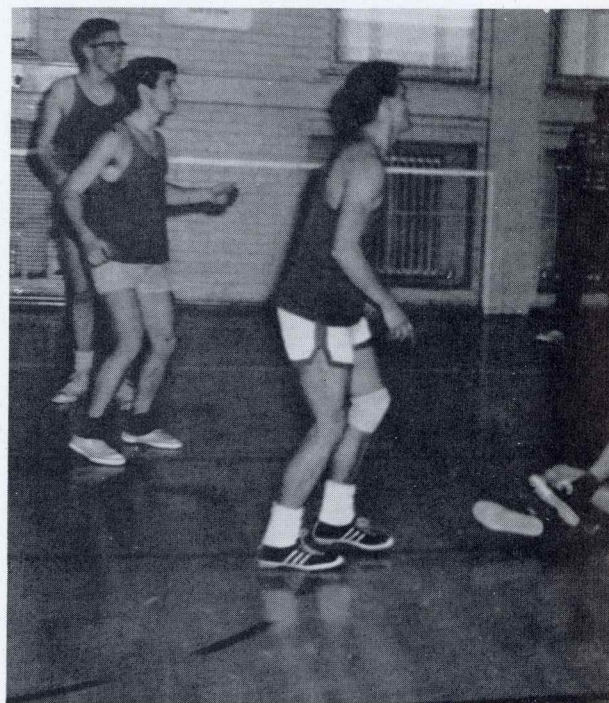

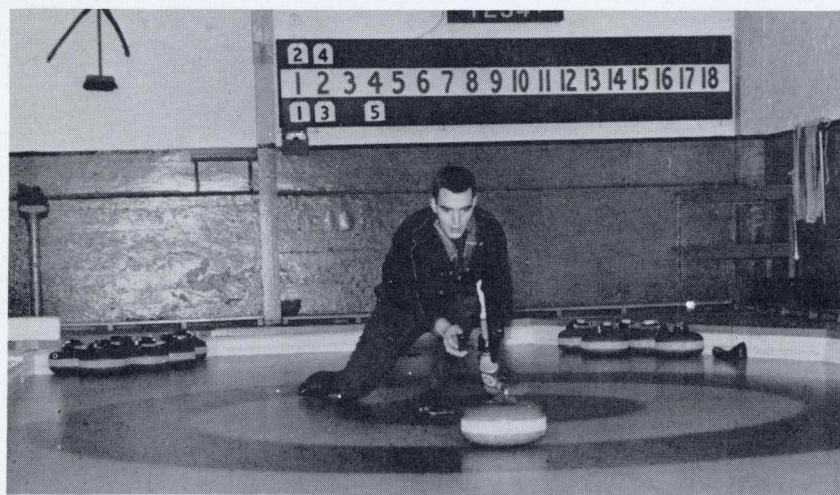

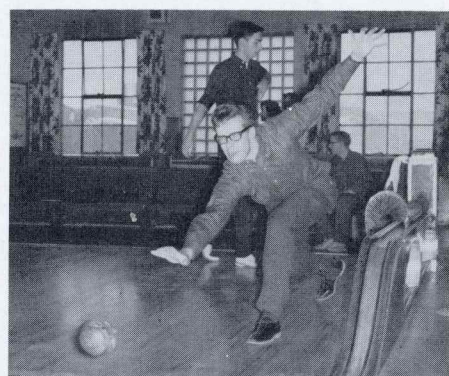

Swimming

It was a great season for the Water-boys this year, as they came from an unexciting past to capture the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Trophy with an impressive record of seven wins and three seconds out of eleven events. It was Jim McBride's last year as coach, and under his direction team members established (several O.S.L. swimming) records. Add to this direction a combination of talented leaders and general skill, and you have the answer to what rode the team to the crest of the wave.

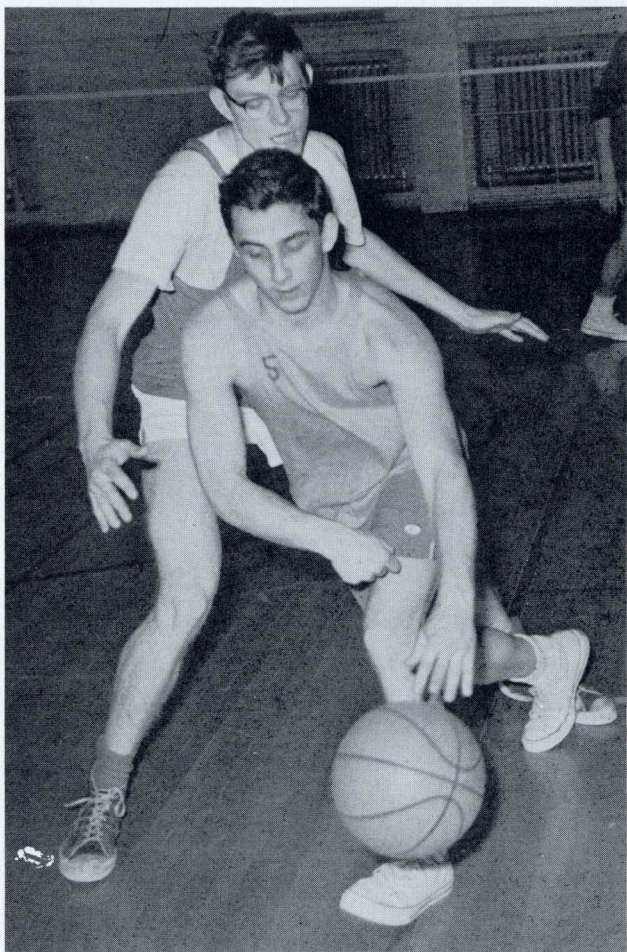

Intramural Sports

Doug Insleay's sports department once again provided enough organized intramural activities to keep students busy throughout the year. Leagues were formed for touch football, hockey, curling, basketball and volleyball---in short for almost any team sport in existence. With the university expanding, all fingers are crossed awaiting the hoped for development of a Phys.-Ed. building. Meanwhile, Intramural sports continue to grow.

THE REVIEW IN RETROSPECT

It is tempting to chart current business conditions as if they were a straight line, and to plan the economy's progress on that basis. In reality, the picture is more complex. The decade of the 1950's, for all the hopes that were held for it, has begun to be the last of the post-war boom. The decade of the 1960's, for all the hopes that were held for it, has begun to be the last of the post-war boom.

The purpose of this Review is to set in context the long-term picture that may be seen for the long-term future. It has no other purpose than to provide a background for the current picture.

At the same time, the Review is a guide to the current picture. It is a guide to the current picture in the sense that it provides a background for the current picture.

A strong sense of duty, readiness to accept responsibility and the ability to lead . . . are some of the qualities required of an officer in Canada's Armed Forces. The development of these leadership qualities in this modern age demands the best in education and training.

The Department of National Defence will sponsor, through the Regular Officer Training Plan (ROTP), a selected number of qualified high school graduates to obtain an education through the Canadian Services

Colleges or through most Canadian universities, leading to a university degree and the Queen's Commission. This training prepares cadets for a career as officers in their chosen service, the Royal Canadian Navy, the Canadian Army or the Royal Canadian Air Force.

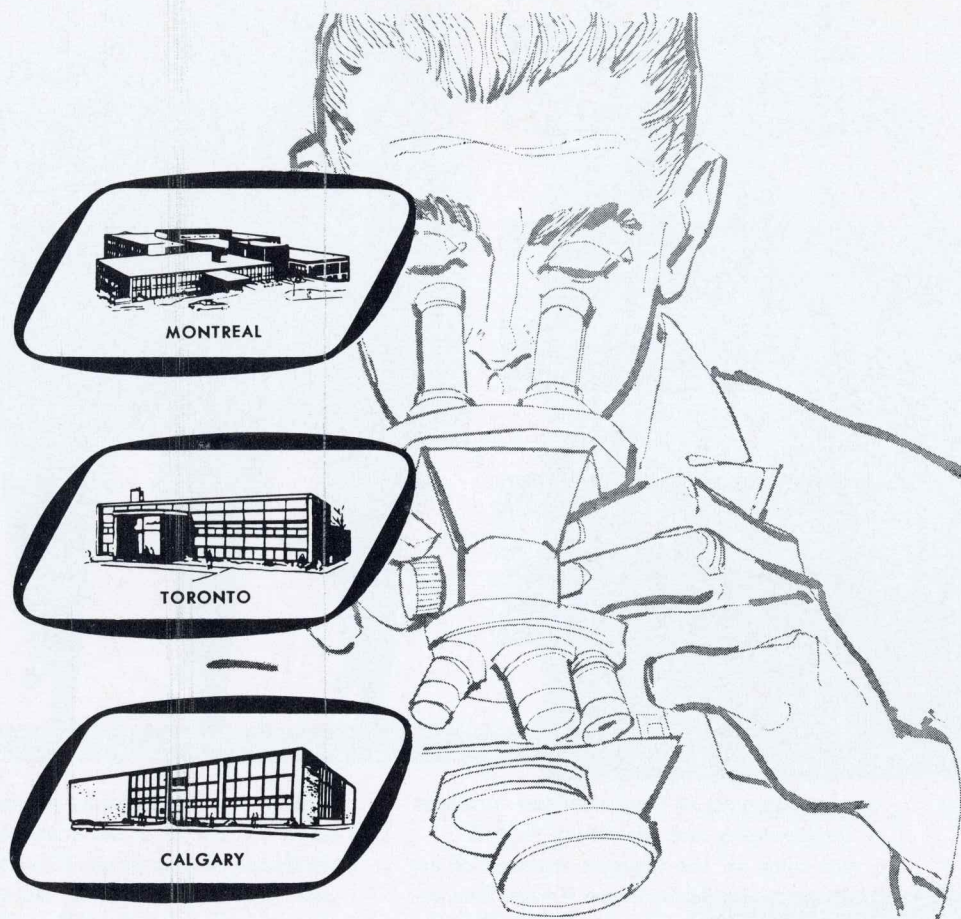

There is also a limited entry for those who would choose to obtain higher education at the Canadian Services Colleges at their own expense, and serve after graduation as officers in active components of the Reserve forces.

Full details concerning the Regular Officer Training Plan, or entry into the Canadian Services Colleges, as a Reserve cadet, can be obtained without obligation from your nearest Canadian Armed Forces Recruiting Centre or by writing to the Director ROTP, Department of National Defence, Ottawa, Ontario. Closing date for candidates applying for 1963 FALL CLASSES is 1 July, 1963.

... and the men and women who continue in our employ are people who are proud of their contribution to our Company's growth.

Material progress in over sixty years as an all-Canadian organization, serving the other members of the medical team, is one of our proudest accomplishments.

The enduring individual energy of the people who make up our Company, along with creativeness in our leaders, at various levels, has made this possible.

The result is an organization with a personality, and an awareness of the responsibilities of good citizenship.

To future FROSST employees we offer the opportunity to share in our growth, in an atmosphere that has provided satisfaction to those who have helped to create and maintain it.

From The Editor

Now that the final pages have passed a tired eye inspection I have time to collect my thoughts for a few moments to recall just how we managed to publish GARNET '63.

How can I forget the morning the Associate Editor, Ed, woke up saying, "It's O.K. Ron, the final pages are all laid out." Aside from his primary responsibilities of Associate and Sports Editor, Ed laid out pages and wrote copy whenever there was a need.

A vote of thanks is extended to Vern Sparkes who piloted us through the Grad Section and also found time to write the excellent copy for the In Memoriam.

And then there was that comical little Chinaman who every Friday afternoon came drifting into the office, half on his way to the promised land singing, "Here we go loop de loop."

Oh yes, then there were our West Indian friends John Blackwood and Millard Beane. John had the difficult task of editing the Clubs Section while Millard was solely responsible for both the photography and the layout of The Concrete Campus.

I would also like to mention the cooperation we received from the Photography Department this year. These boys were hard pushed at times but I am grateful to say that they came through with flying colours.

Perhaps what remains most vivid in my memory are the thoughts of those Georgians who pitched in when the going was roughest and who were not even members of the staff. First to mind is Peter Wilkins who would periodically drop down to the office with his "Hi Ron, anything I can do?" And then there was Penny Parr whose nimble fingers turned our copy into readable type for the printers. Doug Watson was especially appreciated working with us more than one night until close-up in order to meet the final deadline. A special thank-you to all Georgians who laboured behind the scenes.

And this is the end result. For all of us who have worked on GARNET '63 there will indeed be many lasting memories. We leave the final appraisal of our efforts to you the Georgians of '63.

Ron
